U.S. TO SUPPORT AUSTRIAN EFFORTS TO STOP COMMIES

American High Commissioner Ordered To Help Quell Russian-Aided Uprisings

INCLUDES BOTH POLITICAL AND MILITARY MEASURES

Washington, Oct. 7—(AP)—The government is ordering Lieutenant General Geoffrey Keyes, American High Commissioner in Austria, to give the Austrian Government full support in its efforts to maintain order against Russian-aided uprisings.

The orders in preparation, it was understood, cover both political steps and military measures.

This action to bolster another country on the front line of the East-West conflict was disclosed today with the publication of a message of reassurance from acting Secretary of State Webb to Chancellor Leopold Figl of the Austrian Government.

The message was sent in direct response to an appeal by Figl to the Western Powers. He asked assistance in view of the fact that Russian authorities in Austria had assisted the Communist Demonstrators and opposed the efforts of Austrian police in some areas to restore order during the disturbances of the past week.

The Communists had sought to disrupt transportation and communications, seize public buildings and generally create such difficulties for the Austrian Govern-

PROBE DEFACING SCHOOL BUILDING

Superintendents And Principal Confer On Damages At Neville

Investigation of the defacing with red ink of the front doors and sidewalk at Neville High School, Thursday night, was in progress Saturday by Supt. J. M. Boyet, of the city schools; Paul J. Neal, principal of Neville High School, and Mack Avants, superintendent of Ouachita parish schools.

Some miscreant, during the night immediately previous to the holding of the annual Twin City high schools football game, smeared paint on the doors of the school and on either side of the entrance as well as on the sidewalk leading to the building. They scrawled "Beat Neville", "Down with the Tigers," and other defamatory lettering which caused defacing of the handsomest school building in northeast Louisiana.

Superintendent Avants, when interviewed early Saturday, stated his regrets and gave assurance that he will ferret the matter down to find the guilty party or parties but he stated that it might not have been done by any parish student.

Superintendent J. M. Boyet decried the damage and stated that he had employed, at considerable expense, an expert painter with orders to remove the scrawls from the building. However the man worked many hours and was able Friday to remove only a partial part of the hieroglyphics.

He stressed the fact that Ne-

Soldier Kills Another While 'Playing Around'

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 7. —(AP)— Two teen-aged airmen guarding an airplane ramp at MacDill air force base here began "playing around" with their rifles today.

One rifle went off, killing Pfc Kenneth W. Fincher, 17, of (605 Elm street) Tyler, Texas.

Pfc. John J. Connors, 19 of Brooklyn, N. Y., was held by airforce authorities pending a court martial on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Coroner J. G. Spicola said he considered the killing accidental, but was leaving the case up to the military.

"Apparently the two men were playing around with their rifles when one of the weapons was discharged", Spicola said.

Fincher, in the service only five months, was the son of Wylie A. Fincher of Tyler.

Policemen Dismissed, Controversy Expected

Capt. McMurray, Patrolman Hunnicutt Engage Attorney To Fight 'Prejudicial To Public, Police Force' Charges

Action taken by the Monroe city council in the dismissal yesterday of two police officers, one a captain, was the apparent ignition of a controversy that will be aired before the civil service board sometime soon.

The officers discharged were Captain H. J. McMurray, 2919 Gordon avenue, and patrolman first class, W. J. Hunnicutt, 408 St. John street.

The broad reason for their dismissal stated in letters signed by Police Chief M. L. Peters was that their "actions had been prejudicial to the public and the police force."

No confirmation could be made on the rumor that other dismissals would follow.

Attorney Joseph S. Guerriero, employed to represent the discharged officers, said last night that he would take the case before the civil service board and if lost there, he would take it to the courts.

Guerriero said the officers were dismissed under a provision set forth in the municipal fire and police civil service law.

He said the action was taken under a section of the law which says dismissals are valid for "the commission or ommission of any act or acts to the prejudice of the departmental service; or, any act contrary to the public interest or policy."

Specific charges were not pointed out.

Guerriero stated the officers had been discharged without cause and would fight the action of the city officials to the limit.

In a statement last night, Capt. McMurray asserted that neither he nor Hunnicutt had anything to fear. "We haven't done anything that was detrimental to anyone. Our actions have always been above-board."

Police Chief Peters said that no details of the charges could be given at this time. Neither Mayor Coon or city councilman Johnny Simmons or Frank Cline could be reached last night for comment.

SEEK PUBLIC TO BE FIRE MINDED

Prevention Week Now Ushered In, Will Stress Need Of Caution

With the advent of Fire Prevention Week, as proclaimed by President Truman, beginning today, it behooves every individual, old enough to read, to take a carefully considered view of this problem for the year ahead, according to W. Leonard Hodge, fire protection engineer.

Increasing fire losses prove the need for fire prevention education. Fire destruction in the United States during June is estimated at $57,116,000.00 an increase of 10.3 per cent over losses during the same month a year ago. This fact was announced by W. E. Mallalieu, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

This was the fifth month this

JOHN SERVICE IS GIVEN CLEAN BILL

Principle Target In M'Carthy Criticism Cleared By State Department

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)— John S. Service, a principal target in Senator McCarthy's charges of Communists in the state department, has been cleared by the department's loyalty board.

Final action was taken by the board yesterday. State department press officer Roger Tubby told reporters it had been held up for several months for a check on one new rumor from the Far East which finally had been found "baseless." The general inquiry on Service as a security risk was completed last June.

The board action is only the latest in a series which has kept Service, a career diplomat, popping in and out of hot water since 1944 when he tangled with Ambassador Parick J. Hurley in China.

Since that time his name has been a favorite with congressmen accusing state department figures of leftist leanings.

The most spectacular of the incidents came in 1945 when Service was one of six arrested in the

REDS VOTE 'NO'

Action Gives MacArthur Full Right To Order Assault On North

CALL FOR PEACE, UNITY WITH INDEPENDENT STATE

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The United Nations General Assembly gave final, unmistakable moral approval today for U. N. troops to cross the 38th parallel and occupy all Korea.

ready have driven across the line deep into the territory of Communist North Korea and thousands of United States troops are massed at the line waiting to go.

By a vote of 47 to 5, with eight abstentions, the assembly voted the full power of the U. N. to bring peace to Korea and unify it as an independent nation, 17 weeks to the day after the now-defeated North Koreans opened their aggression against South Korea.

The assembly action cinched formally the general, tacit agreement that security council decisions since June 25 gave Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the U. N. unified command in Korea the right to cross the parallel. Their mission is to insure stability in all the country by crushing resistance to U. N. measures for its unity and independence.

The Soviet bloc voted against the majority proposal for a strong U. N. commission to arrange for elections, to unify the country, and to set it on its feet again after the U. N. helps repair its war-torn economy. Arab League countries generally abstained, as did India.

The assembly also swamped the Russia-Soviet bloc demands for an immediate end to hostilities with battle lines frozen where they are. The Russian plan demanded that all foreign troops in the U. N. force be pulled out of the country immediately. Only after that, the Russians argued, should North Korea and South Korea form a committee on an equal basis to conduct elections for the whole country.

The Soviet plan provided that the only U. N. role should be to help rehabilitate the country and to provide an observer commission of U. N. countries and Korea's neighbors—which would include Russia and Red China.

The Russians were defeated in the political committee voting but demanded that the whole assembly vote again by paragraphs on their measure, although defeat was certain.

The assembly approved a fund of almost half a million dollars to put the commission to work in Korea, in the wake of victorious U. N. armies. Proponents of the majority measure—drafted by Britain and seven other countries—said the commission may be at work in the field within three weeks.

Members of the new commission are Pakistan, the Philippines, and Thailand, representing Asia; Turkey, representing the Middle East; Chile, representing Latin Anmerica; the Netherlands, representing Europe; and Australia, representing the Pacific area. No big powers are on the commission.

The assembly action ended a long parliamentary attempt to

U. S. Home Building Boom Faces Big Cut

Aim For 1,300,000 Units-A-Year May Be Cut By More Than One-Third; Control Action Expected During Next Week

By Charles Molony

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The government is about to clamp credit-tightening brakes on the nation's greatest home building boom. The aim is to cut its 1,300,003 units-a-year by more than one-third.

Three agencies, the Federal Reserve Board (F. R. B.), Federal Housing Administration (F. H. A.) and Veterans Administration (V. A.), were reported getting ready today to pull the control levees about the middle of next week.

The agencies intend to slow down home building sharply—without stopping it cold—by making considerably stiffer down payments necessary on newly built houses, particularly the high-priced, luxury" type.

Advance reports from government and industry sources point to these requirements: for veterans, 10 per cent or more down; for non-veterans, 15 to 30 percent on houses in the moderate cost brackets, perhaps 50 percent on "luxury" homes.

There also were reports that "regulation X" being drafted by

First Dinner Meeting Of St. Francis Campaign Slated Tuesday

Election of an executive committee for the $600,000 St. Francis Sanitarium building found campaign will be held Tuesday evening at the first dinner meeting to be held by the citizens committee of 100, in the ballroom of the Virginia Hotel. The meeting has been called for 6:30 p.m.

Leading business men of the area who have been serving on the campaign's planning committee will outline their goal and begin the second phase of the drive, which is the creation of an area-wide organization of committees and teams to conduct the final phase of the campaign—the obtainment of the $600,000 by public subscription.

Murray Hudson, chairman of the planning committee, said invitations to the Tuesday meeting have been mailed to the following citizen committee members, who have accepted appointment:

Z. C. Ambrose, Southwest Gas Producing Co.; T. O. Bancroft, Bancroft Bag Factory; Edel Blanks, Interstate Natural Gas Co.; C. C. Bell, Jr., mayor of West Monroe; Dr. William L. VALENTINE WILL DIRECT AGENCY

Ex-University President Appointed Administrator Of Economic Stabilization

Washington, Oct. 7. —(AP)— Dr. Alan Valentine, former president of the University of Rochester, was appointed by President Truman today to be administrator of the economic stabilization agency.

The agency is an independent one created under the defense production act to keep the nation's economy on an even keel during the armament drive growing out of the Korean crisis.

The White House said other appointments are expected soon to the new agency, including a director of price stabilization and a nine-man wage stabilization board.

Dr. Valentine, holder of degrees from many American universities and Oxford, accepted the appointment in a call at the White House soon after the president returned from an eight day cruise on the yacht Williamsburg.

Dr. Valentine left town immediately afterward, but is expected to assume the new job in a week.

The appointee resigned from the University of Rochester last June after 15 years as president.

Mr. Truman is empowered to fix the salary for the ESA administration and Charles G. Ross, the president's press secretary, said it probably will be $17,500 a year.

Has Seventh Meeting With Virgin Mary

By Arthur Bystrom

Necedah, Wis., Oct. 7. —(AP)— A weathered backwoods housewife held what she called her last public audience with the Virgin Mary today, then collapsed before her farmyard shrine.

Before Mary Anna Van Hoof confronted a crowd estimated at 50,000 a Roman Catholic priest said he saw the sun whirl. During a 25-minute address in which she voiced what she claimed was her seventh message from the mother of Jesus, isolated groups of women broke out with cries of "the sun—its whirling again!" The excitement evidenced by the women did not spread to the majority of the crowd.

Newsmen saw nothing extraordinary.

After her collapse, 41-year - old Mrs. Van Hoof was revived quickly and assisted to her house.

As did the sixth, today's message warned of death and destruction unless people prayed and prayed hard for peace and conversion of Communists.

The priest said he saw the sun whirl over the barren farm at mid morning, when the sun appeared momentarily through heavy clouds. He declined to identify himself, but told reporters: "I saw it (the sun) whirl clockwise and it also jumped." A number of women also claimed they saw the sun whirl.

U.S. Air Power In Far East Expanded

Washington, Oct. 7. —(AP)— The United States is continuing to expand its already overwhelming air power in Korea.

More units are on their way from the United States or getting ready to go.

The destruction of all organized Communist forces in South Korea ended the need for large scale air support of ground operations there. The Far East air force has reported that virtually all worthwhile strategic targets (factories, communications centers, oil refineries, port facilities) in enemy North Korea have been shattered.

TROOPS READY

Weeklong Surrender Order Ignored; Allied Forces Expected To Strike

SOUTH KOREANS PUSHING DEEPER IN ENEMY GROUND

By Bill Ros

Toyko, Sunday, Oc. 8. —(AP)—The U. S. First Cavalry division Saturday seized Kaesong, southern gateway to Red Korea, while Korean Republican troops speared within 19 miles of Wonsan, east coast defense anchor deep inside enemy territory.

Newly given clear authority from the United Nations to drive across the 38th parallel for final victory over the Korean Communists, other allied forces moved northward close upon that arbitrary border between the Red north and the republican south.

The United Nations assembly in effect gave the go-ahead signal to General MacArthur's waiting troops when it voted Saturday in New York for reconstructing a unified Korea, taking all appropriate steps to insure stability throughout the country. Only the Soviet bloc voted in opposition.

This was interpreted as a firm signal for MacArthur, as United Nations commander, to deal the knockout punch to the reeling Reds.

The Communists, shattered in their ambitious invasion of South Korea, have ignored his weeklong radio demands for complete surrender.

MacArthur has 12 identified divisions at his command for his task.

Three of them—the South Korean third, capital and sixth, already are in the Red north, advancing rapidly northward against light opposition.

Two divisions—the U. S. first cavalry and the South Korean eighth—struck Saturday to within sight of the 38th parallel.

Location of the seven other allied divisions has not been pinpointed by authorities for several days. They are known to be operating south of the 38th parallel, regrouping and mopping up cut-off pockets of the Red army that suddenly invaded South Korea June 25, then was smashed by the big allied offensive that began Sept. 15.

The U. S. eighth army quit giving information on the location of its forward elements last Sunday. It has issued no communiques since Thursday.

It was a spokesman for the U. S. air force who announced that the

STERLINGTON BANK IS ONE YEAR OLD

Resources Of Young, Modern Enterprise 4 Times More Than On Opening Day

Sterlington, La., Oct. 7.—(Special)—A growing town, Sterlington, La., started a bank president in Farmerville to thinking, and the result is the Sterlington Bank, which completed its first year of service to a steadily growing public four days ago.

N. B. James, president of the Farmerville Bank, and three business men J. R. Fuller of Monroe, S. L. Fuller and James E. Fuller of Dubach expressed faith in the undertaking by jointly investing $50,000 in the establishment.

Located on the Monroe-Farmerville highway just opposite the Commercial Solvents chemical plant, the bank is a drawing card for new business and President James feels that it is conveniently located for 3500 people who live within three miles of the new bank.

Receipts have grown to almost four times their original amount since the opening date one year ago. Over a half-million dollars in loans have been let out since the bank opened, and James said it would continue to be the bank's policy to render any banking services offered anywhere in the country.

Convinced by the solidity of the four original builders, 66 stockholders invested $70,000. The 3500 people who live near the bank average $3,500,000 annually, from industrial incomes other than farming and timber operations, assuring a substantial influx of money and new enterprise.

Officers of the bank are J. R. Fuller, chairman; N. B. James, president; Dr. B. E. Spencer, vice-president; and R. E. Wollank, cashier. Directors include these four and D. Y. Smith of Sterlington.

Mighty Irish Doubled By Purdue; Rice Beats L. S. U.

By Ed Corrigan

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)— Notre Dame, mighty behemoth of the gridiron since 1946, fell with a thud that could be heard all over the nation today. The Purdue Boilermakers, 20 - point underdogs, turned the trick at South Bend, 28-14, before the unbelieving eyes of 56,748 onlookers.

This was perhaps the biggest college upset of the post-war era, for the Irish have been well-nigh invincible in the process of running up a defeatless streak of 39 games, although they were tied twice.

Nor was the Notre Dame upset the only one of the day. In East Lansing, Mich., the second ranked team of the country, Michigan State, caught its bomps, at the hands of Maryland, 34-7, another decisive upset that stunned 39,376 spectators.

Neither of these reversals were flukes. Purdue, manned in the main by sophomores, crushed the Irish air attack that has stood up so well through the years and smothered the South Bend ground threat at the critical moments.

The Boilermakers actually pounded out a 21-0 half - time lead, but when the belated Notre Dame rally got under way in the second half the door had been slammed in its face. After Frank Leahy's eleven cut its deficit to 14-21 at the start of the fourth quarter, Purdue scored again.

The final marker was made on a 56-yard pass play with sophomore Dale Samuels pitching to Mike Maccioli. That was it. The last previous time Notre Dame lost a game was on Dec. 1, 1945, when it bowed to Great Lakes naval training station, 39-7.

In toppling Michigan State, Maryland showed that perhaps it

Large Acreage Sale To Lead To Development Plans

Newt Mills Announces Negro Burial Park And Other Projects Here

Sale of 286 acres of land lying on both sides of Winnsboro road, five miles from Monroe, by C. S. Causey to Newt V. Mills, for $20,000, is expected to result in an extensive development for colored people of city and parish.

Pastors of 36 colored churches are said to have approved the first part of the project which will be known as Mother's Memorial park, a burial ground patterned similar to Monroe Memorial park on highway 80. There are approximately 20 acres in this tract that lies south of the Winnsboro road and is high and dry. Pine trees and pecans are outlined in the rear of the property which has been graded by Tom Hicks, roads built and burial sections arranged.

A losty metal flagstaff and flag are immediately in front of the music tower, a white-painted cement structure, where will be broadcast programs and hymns when required at time of funerals.

This property will be operated by colored pastors and prominent members of colored churches. A board has been formed with Rev. M. K. Gordon, pastor of St. John's Colored Church, president; C. H. Myers, temporary secretary; and George Banks, deacon in Oliver Church, vice-president. A treasurer will be named who will be bonded and all money collected from lot sales will be placed in the bank. The entire cemetery wil be operated on the perpetual car plan, with no monuments, according to latest park plan properties.

Members of the board showed a large number of signatures of colored persons who stated they would purchase lots immediately, or as soon as they can be staked and numbered.

A second project connected with the acquiring of this tract of property is embraced in the tract of land immediately west of the cemetery. Here is to be a residence subdivision restricted in nature which it is hoped will result in a sizeable colored development. No house erected here can be constructed at a cost of less than around $2,000.

In the towering pine grove, immediately opposite Mother's Memorial park, there is to be Mother's recreation center and in time it is visioned that there will be a swimming pool, picnic grounds for colored, a recreational hall for assemblages, and also a hospital for colored. The last named would be erected through federal expense state the proponents of the plan.

Mr. Mills states that his only interest in the project is to receive a return of the money he has thus far expended. He declares that the property is well suited in relation to the various colored sections in the south end of Monroe. The property was chosen by the colored people themselves after a year's search for a property that suited their requirements.

He emphasized the fact that the Monroe planning and beautification board, of which Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn is chairman, has made a creful study of sites for a property for colored development and that this site met with approval. Mrs. Aline Banister, a member of this board, stated yesterday that the property in her opinion is ideally suited to the purposes.

Medical Men Never Heard Anything Like It Before

Story Of Self-Made 'Dr.' William MacLeod Is Incredible

By Saul Pett

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—This is the story of William Renwick MacLeod, who evidently wanted to practice medicine more than he wanted to stay out of jail.

MacLeod, you remember, was arrested last month at the Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., hospital, where he was a resident physician. It turned out he didn' have a license, didn't have a medical degree, didn't even have a high school diploma.

Now, as his full story begins to unfold, his career seems even more bizarre. Bizarre because he covered so much ground without harming anybody. Because his deception worked for almost five years. Because his dollar profits were small compared to the risk, and he worked where the risk of detection was greatest. Because he not only worked at medicine, he married into a medical family. And bizarre because even a previous jail sentenced failed to repress his compulsion to practice the healing arts.

In all, the 37-year-old, stocky, self-made "doctor" worked as interne and resident physician at nine hospitals in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut during the last five years. Residents usually specialize in one field, MacLeod "specialized" in at least five.

In one hospital, he was resident in neuro-psychiatry. In another, surgery. In another, obstretrics and gynecology. In still another, geriatrics, which is the study of old age.

"I've never heard of anything like it before," said a spokesman for the New York Academy of Medicine. "There have been quacks who worked on the fringe of medicine before. But this man went right into the hospitals and worked in the midst of real doctors and nurses."

There is no indication MacLeod tried to practice medicine outside of hospitals, but in every other respect he tried to live the medical life as fully as possible. He bought many medical books. He married a nurse. His father-in-law is a retired physician.

Inevitably, the family came together to talk shop. And there was MacLeod holding his own with experts. Neither wife nor father-in-law, said Mrs. MacLeod, ever suspected her husband had no legitimate medical training.

Mrs. MacLeod said her father felt that MacLeod showed "great promise" as a physician.

The nurses and the doctors MacLeod worked with in emergency rooms, in surgery, in wards and delivery rooms, also thought well of him. They respected him professionally. They found his personality engaging. At least, hat's what they told me.

Patients loved the bogus doctor. One credited MacLeod with saving his life after last rites were administered during a violent asthmatic attack. Others said he had a gentle, considerate bedside manner and a good sense of humor.

"He told jokes and made me forget my ulcers," said Leonard Scapperotta, who received intravenous injections from MacLeod at the Dobbs Ferry Hospital.

Dr. Ralph Richardson, chief of staff at the Bristol hospital, Bristol, Conn., went farthest in his praise. He said:

"MacLeod was here for a month or so late last year. Generally he assisted in surgery and also delivered babies. We all like him, though he was an excellent man and well trained. As far as I'm concerned, if he gets a legitimate medical degree I'd like to have him back."

When he said that, Dr. Richardson didn't know about MacLeod's army career. Evidently none of the friends he made or the people he impressed after the war knw about his wartime activities. But let's try to pick up his life story before we get to that.

MacLeod, who is now serving a year in the Westchester county (N. Y.) penitentiary, told prison officials he was moved with his family from Canada to Maine.

Without being definite as to locations, MacLeod said that it was in Maine he fell in love with medicine. His idol, he said, was a country doctor there. He frequently played hookey from school to study the doctor's medical books.

All his life, MacLeod said, he acquired medical books and read them religiously. In this way and with his experience in the army medical corps, he said, he picked up his kow'edge of medicine.

Western Europe Defense Force

It's good news that the foreign ministers of the 12 north Atlantic pact nations have moved closer to building an integrated armed force for the defense of western Europe. Their meeting in New York sounded as if they meant business.

Deputies will gather in London Oct. 15 to consider overall political, economic and military aspects of the joint defense effort. Near the end of October, defense ministers will meet in Washington to plan details of the unified force. They're expected then to choose a chief of staff—not a supreme commander—to have responsibility for training and organizing the western armies.

Only when the force is a reality, and no date has been set for its creation, will a supreme commander be named.

The ministers in New York urged that "all available manpower and productive resources should be fully utilized" for western Europe's defense. If that determination is adhered to, if it is translated from mere paper plans to soldiers well equipped with tanks and guns, then the free world will really be getting somewhere.

Up to now the bold concept of the north Atlantic treaty has been no more than a dream. It has been implemented by nothing but words. The real defense of western Europe has been an idea and that is all.

However encouraging the New York session seems on this general problem, it produced no concrete answer to the question of what to do about rearming west Germany. The most that could be said on this was the statement of a "qualified" official that German rearmament had received an "implied acceptance in principle."

Putting this in reader English, it means the ministers said things which strongly suggest they approve the idea.

France is, of course, the chief stumbling block on the German issue. The French want more time to study the matter. In view of France's long standing fears of an armed Germany, this is understandable. But the problem has been moving toward a decision for a long time and the French ought to be closer to knowing their mind than they appear to be. It is fair for the other pact nations to ask that when the defense ministers meet in Washington the French be ready with their answer.

It's the general opinion of most pact countries that German strength is needed in the European defense picture. If they are forced to abandon this view by French opposition, the sooner this happens the better. For then they will be free to make whatever other arrangements they can devise to cope with Russian might on the continent.

What is needed at this stage is clear, decisive action which will leave the Soviet Union in no doubt about what it will find if it tries to overrun Europe. Too much time already has been lost through indecision and uncertainty.

When the defense ministers leave Washington this November, we should know one way or another whether there is to be a German armed force.

A Flag We All Should Know

Of all the banners that fly in the vanguard of the battle for peace, the least known to the world, perhaps, is the one that may in time be in the most universal use. It is the flag of the United Nations. The United Nations' flag now flies beside the American in Korea, and beside the British flag and the other flags that fly there, but there are a great many of us in this country, as in other countries, to whom the United Nations' flag, if we saw one, would be but "a banner with a strange device," to borrow the words of the poet.

On October 24, however, that condition will be remedied. October 24 will be United Nations Day, sponsored by more than 100 of the nation's largest civic, service, fraternal, business, industrial, agricultural and veterans' organizations. They will fly the United Nations' flag at their meetings and ceremonies on October 24 and during the week preceding and will cooperate with local governmental agencies in flying the flags in public places, along with the American flag. Among the cooperating agencies will be the Extension Service, Home Demonstration Clubs and 4-H Clubs, the women and girls of which will emulate Betsy Ross to the extent of making United Nations' flags and supplying instructions to other interested groups and individuals on how they can be made cheaply, easily and quickly and on where they may be bought.

The purpose of United Nations Day is not only to familiarize more people with the United Nations' banner but also to encourage a better understanding of what the UN itself has come to be, the new role that the UN has assumed since the outbreak of the war in Korea. If the observation is even partially successful in achieving these purposes, it will have been worth-while, for the effectiveness of the UN as a peacemaking agency depends on the support and understanding of free people everywhere more than on anything else.

The poor man means obscuring.

Hal Bloch, the quip-snapper for the movie and radio stars, has an entertaining piece in Collier's on How It's Done. . . . It winds up: "John Barrymore was particularly difficult from a writer's standpoint. Once we had a rousing argument over a line I had written, and finally I said: 'Look, the theater is your medium and radio is mine. Who are you not to like the line I wrote?' . . . Barrymore, in surprise, replied: 'Who do you have to be?' "

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

RING AROUND ROSIE

As regards Europe, Dean Acheson has formulated a policy which is understandable, namely, that the United States will sustain the western European nations, excepting Spain, and such Mediterranean nations as Greece and Turkey against both the blandishments and military force of Soviet Russia. The omission of Spain is a holdover from the successful propaganda in this country of Soviet Russia during the period of collaboration. From a strictly American standpoint, it is an error.

This policy is to be pursued at any cost and in disregard of what those countries may themselves do, on the assumption that the conquest of the entire continent of Europe by Soviet Russia is against American interests. In additoin, it is clearly Mr. Acheson's view and sentiment that it is a function of the United States to maintain Great Britain and whatever government exists there, including the present socialistic government whose policies are often antagonistic to ours.

In pursuit of this broad view, since the Potsdam conference, the United States has adopted the Truman doctrine of containment, the Marshall plan, the North Atlantic alliance, and he European rearmament plan, all of which cost the United States money and none of which has yet created an adequate will to resist Soviet Russia among continental nations.

In Asia, Mr. Acheson has at no point indicated a similar sureness of touch. Apparently, Asis confuses him. Whatever policy he pursued in Europe, he took an opposite view in Asia. For instance, in Europe he supported governments in Greece and Turkey which are no better and no worse than the government of Nationalist China. The bad was accepted with the good on the assumption that it was to our interest. In China, he demanded such purity as cannot be found on the New York police force, much less in Kansas City.

And because Chiang's government was, according to Mr. Acheson, corrupt, his policy was so guided that Soviet Russia was permitted to conquer that country—which obviously could not have been to American interests if a similar conquest in Europe is not to our interest.

Simiarly, whereas in Europe we denounced spheres of influence and set up the Berlin airlift as a protest against the attempt to expand the Yalta and Potsdam decisions into a sphere of influence, in Korea, Mr. Acheson not only abided by a sphere of influence marked by the 38th parallel, but was about to withdraw American interests, and had withdrawn American troops, prior to what was near to a vacuum in June of this year.

So came the Korean war, the Russians directing a satellite into an undefended area. When the full record appears, it will be shown that Acheson was not ready for this and that our early defeats were due to an intention to withdraw from Korea and from Japan as well, throwing Asia to Russia that there might be more strength Europe.

The fallacy in this idea is that Russia can take Europe any time she pleases, but that Russia does not please to involve herself in a European war until Asia is beyond doubt hers. And the reason for such a policy is that Asia is more important to Russia; can guard her storehouses of natural wealth and her great new industries; can provide her with a trainable and competent manpower that can overpower an effete Europe.

For this must be noted in the Korean campaign: Those North Koreans could and did fight and give every evidence of having achieved skill in the use and manipulation of mechanized means of war. Such peoples as the Chinese, Koreans, Mongols, Kalmuks, Uzbegs, and other Asiatics are the Russian fighters of the future.

For this reason, India, which has contributed nothing to the Korean war and thus far, less than nothing to world peace, assumes the role of Russian sponsor in the United Nations. It is because the Indian, being Asiatics, know that Afghanistan is already a Russian sphere, and Mongolia and Turketan, Russia's displeasure — and India is next. Mr. Nehru is buying an insurance policy.

But what about the United States? Are we to lose the war war against Hitler??

Note for editors and readers: too late to do anything about it, I discovered that in my column for October 3, on the subject of the Russians counterfeiting American banknotes, "a "now" was turned into a "not," changing the meaning entirely.

The fact is that Ogden Mills discovered what the Russians were up to because the United States was printing small bills while the Russians were counterfeiting the old-fashioned big ones. G. E. S.

Billy Rose:

PITCHING HORSESHOES

JES' PLAIN FOLKS

Today, once and for all, I'd like to give the lie to the libel that Hollywood folk are a breed apart—that they're exhibitionists who specialize in double-dealing and double-living. As I know them, and I know them plenty well, they just happen to be slightly more photogenic versions of your Uncle Jonathan and your Aunt Esmerelda—ordinary citizens who work hard, send their kids to Sunday School and get misty-eyed when they see the Red, White and Blue spanking in the breeze.

What's that? The gent in the checked vest wants proof? Okay, but since the principals in the tale coming up are modest people I'll have to alias up their names. . . .

A few years ago Moira Gaye, one of the most publicized patooties in filmdom, divorced Hubby No. 4, a scenario writer, and married Hubby No. 5, a set designer. These multiple marriages, I hasten to add, do not mean that Moira was promiscuous; they only go to show that, if it's love that makes the world go round, the star had such an overdose of this commodity that she went around a bit faster than most.

Toward the end of the war, as you may remember, a lot of writers and directors with Hungarian and Czech names were showing up in Hollywood, and because of their aristocratic backgrounds and accents most of them were received with open arms and salons. One in particular, a Czech director I'll call Matchek, was welcomed with particularly open arms by Moira who was so smitten that she decided to make him Hubby No. 6.

Moira, like any Main street hausfrau, was naturally anxious for her prospective husband to be a bang-up success, and so she set out to sell him to the executives of her studio. "Matchek's a great director," she told them, "and it so happens he owns the rights to a story that would be perfect for me. Why don't you buy it for my next picture? There's only one condition—Matchek must direct."

The studio heads knew what Moira didn't—that she was no longer the box-office attraction she was quacked up to be, but they also knew that if she were properly handed her past glories might carry her along for another picture or two. And so, out of loyalty to an old money maker—and touched by her devotion to her next husband—they agreed to buy both Matchek and his story.

A couple of days after the film went into production, the refugee dropped in to see the studio boss.

"As you know," he said, "I love dear Moira very much, but there's one thing I love even more—my integrity as an artist. And when I make a picture I permit nothing—not even love—to stand in the way. Therefore, in all honesty, I got to tell you that in this particular picture dear Moira stinks, and I think you ought to replace her with—" And here the incorruptible one named an up-and-coming actress who had recently been signed by the studio.

"I'll see what I can do," said the understanding bossman.

The rest is quickly told, Moira was kicked out of the role and simultaneously out of Matchek's life, and the director, specializing in sentimental films about home life, went on to become one of the wonder boys of Hollywood.

As for Moira, I see her occassionaly in one of the more shadowy midtown spots in Manhattan. As a rule, she's nursing a Martini and, if the scuttlebutt is to be believed, still carries a torch for the Czech who was to have been Hubby No. 6.

And that's all there is to this just-folksy tale about a boy and a girl in the land of the gold coconuts—dead ringers, I'm sure you'll agree, for your Uncle Jonathan and your Aunt Esmerelda.

What Others Say:

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

BAIL FOR COMMUNISTS

Majority editorial opinion approves Supreme Court Justice Jackson's decision continuing bail for 10 of the 11 Communist party leaders (one being already in jail for contempt of congress) convicted of conspiracy in advocacy and teaching of violent overthrow of the United States government. But a rather large minority of editors argues that, in the gravity of the charges and in the continued activities of the 10 while free, this case is no equivalent to ordinary, non-capital cases in which continuing bail, pending final appeal, obtains under our law.

El Paso (Texas) Herald-Post (Ind.): "Justice Jackson admirably expressed the very essence of democratic justice and sanctity of civil liberties—even to the worst enemies of those principles. . . . The right of every American to equal treatment before the law, he stated, 'is wrapped up in the same constitutional bundle with the rights of these Communists. Charles B. Driscoll:

New York Day By Day

New York—Mrs. Arthur Jones, Wareham, Mass., sends me a four-stanza poem about a dog, written long ago by Peter Reed. She says she has kept it since childhood. The title is "A Plea for a Sinner." There is not room here for the four stanzas, but I give you the first one:

Dear Mr. God, please listen;
Since I had to give him up,
Please take good care of Tippy, Sir;
He's such a little pup.

Ordinarily, one does not like the idea of addressing God as Mister and Sir, but this is a child talking, and he uses the most respectful terms he knows.

Also, I remember that the Greek word Kyrios, which in our English language New Testaments is translated Lord, is commonly used in the sense of Sir or Mister by the Greeks of today, as it was of old. There are some modern versions in English that translate it Sir in the story of Our Lord.

George Alfred Brown, of Wichita, writes that he was living in Garnett, Kans., birthplace of Edgar Lee Masters, in 1897, when William Jennings Bryan addressed a crowd of 60,000 people at the fair grounds in Wichita. Brown, then a youngster, was impressed by the statement in the papers that Bryan received $1,700 for the speech.

So he determined to become a public speaker and make money the easy way. He has delivered many addresses since then, but has not found the going easy. It's hard work, he says. I agree. Bryan earned his money in those days when there were no microphones. And it was mighty hot there at the fair grounds.

One of my pet correspondents is Mrs. George Gates, of San Diego. For her 80th birthday she asked a photograph of me and my wife. I did the best I could. Sent her my own autographed photograph. But my wife never has participated in my public work, and she does not send photographs to anybody. Mrs Gates asks me pretty please to go to San Diego and see the world from Point Loma. Mabe I will.

Mrs. Harry Allen, Carthage, Mo., writes a thoughtful letter, indicating a mind capable of meditation and judgment. She heard about an informal talk I made in Joplin, some months ago, in which I told the business men of the community, not at all uncertainly, "We are going to war." This, I think, was the least popular of my speeches in that part of the country.

Well, we are at war.

Pardon me, we are in a police action by the United Nations.

It did not take a prophetic power to see what I told the business men's clubs. Just a realistic view of the news.

Mrs. Allen believed me. All the others will believe when their sons and sons-in-law are called up for inducton. Already several of my family have been called.

In New York the coffins are coming home.

Mrs. Allen says the people of the midwest do not think so much about war as do the coastal residents. True. But those flag-draped coffins are mighty convincing.

BASCOM TIMMONS

By Charles Gridley

We had quite an argument about the award of the Congressional Medal of Honor to Major General William F. Dean, missing in action in Korea, and since so many allegedly well informed newsmen knew so little about the highest award this country gives for bravery, it may be that other people would like to know, too.

Two gentlemen of the press ridiculed the assertion (made by the writer) that there are separate Congressional medals for the army and the navy. That was easy to prove. Another gentleman of wide knowledge insisted that every Congressional Medal of Honor award had to be OK'd by congress. That was easy to disprove.

The Medal of Honor had its origin early in the War Between the States when some forgotten politician introduced a bill in congress authorizing 2,000 such medals to be prepared, and awarded for gallantry in action. During the war, the Union army awarded about 1,700, the navy 327, of which only 17 went to the marine corps.

increased during the war. Northern

The original authorization was increased war during Northern politicians were so eager to have their friends decorated that in one or two instances whole regiments were given the Congressional Medal, which made it of little value. These mass awards were later revoked and no record of them is now included in the annals of the army.

It is still called the Congressional Medal of Honor, and always has been, although the initial act gave the president complete authority to prepare the medals and direct their presentation "in the name of congress". But the explanation of two Congressional Medals of Honor is that there were separate authorizations, one for the army and one for the navy, both passed in 1862, although there was originally only one design.

Later, the two services designed separate medals, but kept the same light blue ribbon with white stars, hung around the neck of the recipient. The army medal hung by an eagle, the navy by an anchor, but the army clung to the original star shape, while the navy preferred a cross. That preference persisted through World War I, in which the navy issued only 28 Congressional Medals to the army's 95.

Most of those 95 were pinned on the heroes who had earned them by General Pershing at Chaumont, France, GHQ of AEF, in March 1918, which demonstrates that the president can designate an army commander to make the presentation. Those recipients were given the right to choose any special favor they wished. Most of them chose to come home immediately.

World War II really brought the Congressional Medal of Honor into the big time. The army awarded 293, the navy 137 (of which 79 were won by the navy's "police force"—the United States marines). Between wars the navy medal had been redesigned to its original star shaped figure of 1862. But the designs of the two are still different.

The medal is often presented to next of kin posthumously—combat forces in both services insist "you gotta get killed to get it"—by the nearest high ranking officer. They used to drape the ribbon around the neck, but since one general tried to put it over a lady's wide brimmed hat, and it got stuck on the crown, they just present it in the original case. For the living hero, the ribbon continues to be hung around his neck in presentation.

To show the exception to the general rule, one Congressional Medal was approved by special act of congress—to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh for his Atlantic flight in 1927. Numerous special medals are approved by congress, but they are not Congressional Medals of Honor.

The hero who gets the award also receives a lifetime pension of $10 a month.

And there is as yet no separate Medal of Honor for the air force.

In Moscow, a taxi driver would undoubtedly be an operative of the secret police, trained to report suspicious conversations and individuals. In Washington, taxi-drivers have the over all approval of Senator Karl Mundt (Rep. S. D.) co-author of the anti-Communist act, passed over the president's veto. The senator thinks they're swell. In a recent speech to visiting Lions' Clubs, he said:

"I f you want to find out something ask the taxi driver. He will answer your questions boldly, firmly, promptly and directly. You can get a college education in Washington for a 30 cent taxi ride. He is an important individual here in Washington. I grant his answer may be wrong, but he is never in doubt; he gives it to you at least at the drop of a hat. He never dodges your questions".

Well, that's one forthright group in Washington.

WHAT SHALL IT PROFIT?

On July 31, 1950, Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Viriginia, issued a statement in which he said "It is possible to trim the present budget of the extra $10 billion just requested by the President." He went on to support this statement with facts and figures item by item.

For all the effect Senator Byrd's statement had on the political leaders of this nation, he might just as well have been a hound dog baying at the moon. Not one move have we seen on the part of the Administration to reduce unessential non - defense expenditurs in the face of the present emergency. If we have been unable to understand the complete failure of the government to observe the fundamental principles of thrift and honesty in our national finances during the past five years, it is even more difficult to understand it now as we face the necessity of enormous additional expenditures for national safety.

The President tells the people that they must now prepare themselves to go without a lot of things they would like to have, but apparently this admonition does not apply to the federal government. His solution is simply more taxes—which taxes in this country are already at the point where they are "killing the goose that lays the golden egg." He would undoubtedly have urged and demanded even more taxes than he did—except for the forthcoming fall elections. After these elections are over, unless the people are wise enough to elect a Congress that is wise enough to oppose this "tax an tax and promise and promise and spend and spend and scare and scare" policy, then watch out, you taxpayers, "you ain't seen nothin' yet."

Without arguing, for the moment, whether or not we are in the Korean war for a good reason, we, of course, must win it and must be willing to finance the cost of winning it. Also without arguing about the best way to meet the threat of communism to the free nations of the world, we can agree that the United States must be prepared to meet force with greater force. But that does not excuse those who only propose that taxes be increased immediately by an amount necessary to meet these needs. With our tax burden what it is at present, increased taxes should be the 'court of last resort."

What we need to do first in this country—and let the chips fall where they may—is to cut out all non-military and other wasteful and purely political spending. Such spending are the billions being spent to support prices, to raise prices, to subsidize, to maintain "parity" prices, to get the support of vote-delivering pressure groups to attempt to buy good will abroad, and to continue the scattering of our taxpayers' money on a international scale through international give-away programs and the Marsnall plan which is, in hign degree, boondoggling and worse. It is the heighth of folly to fight communism in one direction and subsidize socialism in another—for anyone with his eyes half open knows that socialism is only a half-way stop to communism. Sensible people in the nations of the world where we are doling out the American taxpayers' money lament the fact that we are aiding their socialist governments to remain in power. As for the socialists, they are "taking us for a ride"; they will remain our friends as long as we hand out the money, but just wait until we quit!

And another thing we must remember is that the controls we are giving our government over wages and prices and our general economy are the antithesis of the American Way of Life. Generally recognized as necessary under the emergency of war—and this "emergency" we are facing now may last for years and years—we have found out from sad experience that they linger on long after the shooting stops. If we don't watch out, we are going to wake up some day and find out that in addition to giving away our money we have also given away our traditional right to control our government rather than have our government control us. What will it benefit us to attempt to preserve freedom in Korea and other far away places if we are to lose it at home?

Catahoula Jurors To Visit Governor

Jonesville, La., Oct. 7.—(Special)—Members of the Catahoula parish police jury plan to make a trip to Baton Rouge Monday to see Gov. Earl K. Long and R. B. Richardson, head of the state highway department, in an effort to get more state money for graveling parish roads.

The trip was suggested by Dr. R. E. King, state senator, who said he would help the delegation make an appeal for more money. The group will ask for approximately $30,000. Doctor King said he has obtained such additional funds for Franklin and Richland parish roads.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. S.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes. Here are some listed by Prof. Alex Magoun: 1. Mistaking romance and glamour for character. 2. The unconscious feeling of a weak person that he has found someone to lean on. 3. Sex interest aroused by physical attraction. 4. Imagining the enjoyment of the other person's money. 5. A feeling that the other person needs you. 6. A man seeking a substitute for his mother, or a woman for her father. 7. A woman determined not to be an old maid.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. First, because most teachers are prejudiced against them. Second: few teachers and parents can tell a gifted child from the average. Third: parents of slow or average children claim they are just as bright as the gifted children. For these reasons our main "retarded child" is the gifted child—the hope of the nation.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No, apparently. Reports secured from 98 firms showed that over half paid little attention to the education of applicants. Only 15 per cent thought "above average grades" important, while 61 per cent said graduation was immaterial. Looks hopeful for us uneducated fellows! Anyhow, I was a salesman for years and I doubt that my college education did me much good, although it helps me like the deuce to run this column. I wish now I had studied instead of sailing a boat and shooting ducks most of the time on the Ohio River below Hanover College.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By Oswald Jacoby

Fearful Fred Could Do Better

Year in and year out Fearful Fred wins at canasta. He ought to. He plays every day and he is a mighty good canasta player. However, if he weren't scared of his own shadow he would do considerably better.

Fred plays the early part of a canasta hand about as well as anyone. He knows how to build up for the discard pile how to cooperate with his partner and how to keep the opponents in doubt as to what he is doing.

However, if Fred and his partner get control of the discard pile and have a chance for a really big score on a hand, Fred gets nervous and ruins the play. He immediately starts to worry about the opponents going out. Of course, they sometimes do, but Fred always fears it in these situations.

As a result of his fears he never gets the maximum out of his good hands. He makes mixed canastas when he should wait for naturals and he melds so many of his cards that the opponents can afford to freeze the discard pile with safety.

Canasta Charlie really loses at canasta. His name tells why. Charlie wants to make canastas as quickly as he can In this respect he is very much like Minnie the Melder.

The reason that Charlie loses a lot of points whereas Minnie only loses a few is that Charlie has the horrible habit of prolonging a losing hand in order that his side can make a second canasta. Then while he is making this second canasta the opponents make their fourth and fifth canastas. Minnie knows that when a hand is going badly she should meld out. Charlie still wants a second canasta.

Generous George does not play much canasta but when he does play he plays extremely well. His opponents small unimportant discard piles with great frequency but once the pile gets large and important George is about as generous as Old Scrooge.

Larceny Lou also plays good canasta. His weakness, if any, lies in the fact that he plays such a tricky game that he frequently fools his partner—with disastrous resuls.

Hard Luck Joe is just as unsuccessful a canasta as at bridge. He has no specific bad habits. It is just that he seems to have a faculty for always following the wrong tactics. When he should play a melding hand he will be found holding up; when holding up is indicated he will be melding, and worst of all, he just never seems to be able to cooperate with his partner.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual question on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked question in his column.

,Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal (Ind.-Dem.): "These men were tried under American law, in American courts, which have familiar rules. One of these is that in cases not involving capital crimes a convicted person is permitted bail until the court of last resort decides. It was a point of justifiable pride that the Communists, accused of conspiracy against the government, were given the legal, open hearing. This is the west, not the east; this is America, not Russia. That the Communists abused this privilege by trying to make a protracted farce of their own protections is beside the point. It is the institution that matters.

Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer (Ind.-Dem.): "This reasoning would not be questioned in ordinary criminal cases. Nor would it be questioned in the Communists cases, if the defendants refrained, while their appeals were pending, from committing the acts which a jury branded as a criminal conspiracy. But they have not done so. They have continued their un-American activities as usual. Surely a confirmed firebug, having been convicted of arson, would not be freed on bail if it were known that he intended to set more firer while his appeal was pending.

Baltimore (Md.) Evening Sun (Ind.-Dem.): "Justice Jackson held as a matter of fact that their recent activities consisted of making speeches and writing articles and editorials which 'do not contain any advocacy of violent overthrow of the government.' . . . As he pointed out, substantial questions exist for review. The possibility exists that the Supreme court may reverse their conviction. Jailing them prior to a final determination of their guilt or innocence involves the hazard of investing them with a martyrdom, however spurious, should their original conviction subseuently be held invalid."

New Bedford Mass.) Standard-Times (Ind.): "Mr. Jackson said that pending their appeal they are not advocating overthrow of the government, but at best that is a surmise on his part, and the use of force to obtain power is Communist doctrine as determined in Moscow. He also said that 'under no circumstances must we permit their symbolization of an evil force in the world to be hallowed and glorified by any semblance of martyrdom.' We doubt that public opinion would concede them martrydom, which is something they claim for themselves whenever the law catches up with them."

Asheville (N. C.) Citizen (Ind.-Dem.): "It is past doubting that the Communists would scrap our Constitution if they ever became powerful enough to lay a hand on it. It is doubtful on the other hand that the Constitution should be strained and thus weakened by procedure perhaps extra-legal taken by ourselves in its defense. . . . Incidentally, should the pug-ugly 10 find temporary freedom overtempting, it is safe to suppose that the FBI will be around to tap them with a restraining hand."

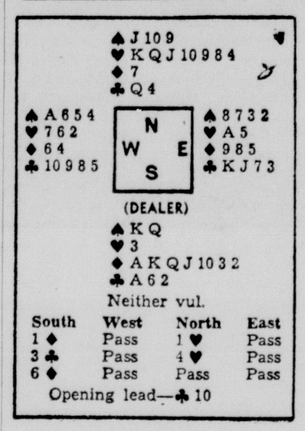
Jacoby Umpires Bidders' Quarrel

By Oswald Jacoby



"Please settle an argument for us," writes a Cedar Rapids correspondent. "We got to a perfectly ridiculous slam contract and it is obvious that there was something radically wrong with out bidding. In fact, each of us is so sure that the other one is entirely wrong that we have made a small bet on your decision.

"Here are our arguments. South claimes that his hand is almost equal to an opening two bid in strength and that he was entitled to go to a slam when North showed strength by jumping to four hearts.

"North claims that his bid of four hearts showed strength all right but that at the same time it showed a hand only good for hearts and invited a slam only if South held a lot of high cards including at least three aces.

"There was considerable more argument also as you can well imagine, so we are leaving the settlement to you."

I can see how this hand would cause trouble. Strangely enough, the wa, the cards lie I imagine that poor South was set three tricks at his slam contract. All it required was the normal opening of the club ten and one lead of trumps by the defense before he got a chance to trump his third club in dummy. On the other hand North would have no trouble making his four heart contract with an overtrick.

According to modern expert bidding North is entirely correct. His bid of four hearts shows exactly the sort of hand that he holds. A hand that he wants to play in hearts and where he is willing to play a slam if his partner has based his three club bid on a hand such as a singleton spade, three hearts to the ace, five diamonds to the ace, king, and four clubs to the ace.

On the other hand I do not feel that South should hold his head in shame. It would have required a very strong constitution to pass the four heart bid. Actually, South would have been better off had he opened with two diamonds. Then he might have been willing to pass at four hearts on the theory that his two diamond opening had shown his full strength.

Incidentally, this last point is well worth bearing in mind. With many hands you will keep out of trouble if you overbid a trifle at your first turn. Since you know you have overbid, you will be able to sign off.

Holly Ridge after having been for 18 months a patient in the E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital where she was rushed when the family home was burned to the ground and she had been badly injured in the fire.

For these many months she has slowly recovered through constant care from physicians and nurses, who seemed to have rescued her from the jaws of death. Her body was frightfully burned and her left hand so injured that the fingers were amputated from near the first knuckle.

Blood transfusion after transfusion were required and numerous operations of skin grafting were essential. Through it all she has proved an excellent patient and her bedside has been thronged daily with friends. Only the past three weeks has she been able to walk a step. To while away time, with only her right hand unimpaired she has learned to crochet in which she has proved quite capable.

Romance has not been too far distant even in the life of this afflicted yoong woman. A schoolmate, Huey Ellis, has been at her bedside each afternoon or early evening. Recently his long, painstaking watchfulness was rewarded when he placed a ring on Leona's finger. It is said that soon after she is removed to her home, they will be married.

Her future seems to be assuming a more hopeful outlook and her many friends are delighted that her life has been spared.

In connection with birthdays this week, attention is called to the fact that Dr. P. M. Gayle, for years a prominent Legionnaire and professional man of Monroe now in a hospital in Waco, Tex., was born October 13. He is still eager to hear from Monroe friends and a birthday card dropped in the mail will please him greatly. He can be reached care of Veterans' Hospital, Waco, Tex., or in care of his niece, Miss Louise Gayle, 515 North 12th street, Waco, Tex.

E. W. Edwards, educational and music director of the First Baptist Church, has resigned and will remove with his family to Pineville, La., where he will occupy a similar post of duty in the First Baptist Church there. He and his family will be greatly missed in Monroe where he has served faithfully for a number of years. His successor has not as yet been named.

Jean Gentry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gentry, senior arts and science major at L. S. U., was chosen last week as student body coed-vice president. A joint meeting of the student senate and council held the election to fill the post recently vacated by Lorraine Lott of Lake Charles, who did not return to school this year.

Miss Gentry, is also a member of Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science organization, Alpha Lamba Delta, a national scholastic society, and Chi Omega, social sorority.

ville High School students have ever been specially charged with the duty of protecting this fine building from unnecessary damage and that in the past years the walls have ever escaped any defacement whatever.

"If such occurrences as this take place, it will destroy the friendly feeling that has recently existed between the two high schools," stated Mr. Boyet. He also mentioned the fact that in the parade Friday the O. P. H. S. refused to join ranks with Neville but instead held their own parade. This he said was an unfriendly attitude it appeared.

Mr. Avants stated that later he expected to be able to make report as to the outcome of their investigation and said that he believed he had a clue as o the perpetrator of the misdeeds.

QUALIFY NEGROES TO ENTER L.S.U.

U.S. Court Rules Denial Violates Fourteenth Amendment

New Orleans, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A three judge U. S. Court ruled today that qualified Negroes must be admitted to the Louisiana State University law school.

The ruling was handed down in the case of Roy S. Wilson, Negro, of Ruston. He asked an injunction restraining the L. S. U. Board of supervisors from enforcing a July 28 resolution which excluded Wilson and several other Negroes from the law school.

U. S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright wrote the opinion. The case was heard before Judge Wright, U. S. District Judge Herbert Christenberry and Judge Wayne G. Borah of the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of appeals.

been agreed that the outcome of

At a pretrial conference it had the case would apply only to the law division of L. S. U. and not to other departments.

Judge Wright said in the opinion:

"We hold in conformity with the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment (to the U. S. constitution) that the plaintiff and all others similarly qualified and situated are entitled to educational advantages and opportunities available within the state, at the same time, upon the same terms and substantially equal to those which the state provides and makes available to other residents and citizens of the state. . . .

"The court is of the opinion that the action of the defendant board of supervisors of the Louisiana State University and agricultural and mechanical college in denying admission to the plaintiff to the department of law solely because of his race and color denies a right guaranteed to the plaintiff by the 14th amendment and that enforcement of the order, pending final hearing, would inflict irreparable damage upon the plaintiff."

In the finding of fact the court observed that the state presently maintains a law school for Negroes at Southern University. But the opinion did not comment on it nor say whether the court found it to be substantially equal to the L. S. U. law school.

JOHN SERVICE

Amerasia Magazine stolen documents case. A grand jury refused to indict him and James F. Byrnes then secretary of state, called him back from suspension to active duty with a letter welcoming the grand jury decision.

McCarthy, a Wisconsin Republican, set off the latest case last spring by naming Service as a man high in a Communist ring he said was operating in the state department.

The accusation caught Service at sea, on the way to a new assignment in New Delhi, India, and he was rushed back home to answer.

He defended himself before the loyalty board and in public testimony before a foreign relations subcommittee which investigated the McCarthy charges he denied the senator's accusations.

Since then he has been more or less marking time, waiting for the loyalty board's findings and studying background material for the job as counsellor of embassy in India. As of last March when the charges broke he was a class 2 foreign service officer at $10,350 a year. He has not been under suspension.

If the loyalty board's findings are accepted by deupty undersecretary of State Carlisle Humelsine and by President Truman's overall loyalty review board, Service presumably will start again on his interrupted trip to New Delhi.

TROOPS READY

U. S. first cavalry division had entered Kaesong, two miles south of the Red border and 92 miles southeast of the Red capital of Pyongyang.

The first cavalry met only scattered resistance in its drive to Kaesong, the air force spokesman said.

The South Korean eighth division was standing at the border on the first cavalry's right, 26 miles east of Kaesong.

These thrusts put the U. N. power drive on the main road to the Red capital at Pyongyang.

Three companion attacks by the fast-moving South Koreans inside Red territory were obviously aimed at Wonsan. Air Observers said the republican third division, farther advanced, was north of Hupkok, which is 19 road miles south of Wonsan.

A. P. Correspondent William Jorden with the republican third, reported it was still advancing northward Saturday night against light, scattered Red resistance.

Two other South Korean divisions — the capital and the sixth—also carved out advances. Front dispatches said that while the U. N. troops were meeting some resistance, no major enemy stand was expected until the allied units reached the Mandai river some 15 miles below Wonsan.

Despite the depth of the South Korean penetration along the east coast, it appeared certain the enemy expected the major United Nations effort to come at Pyongyang.

"I am particularly gratified," he continued, "at the courageous and determined manner in which your government and the Austrian people have met and are meeting their responsibilities in the face of these illegal acts.

The assembly vote also pronounced indirectly the mass U. N. verdict on obstructive tactics Russia's Jacob A. Malik pursued in the security council when he interrupted the Soviet boycott of U. N. organs to come back as council president during August.

The council was paralyzed then by Malik's tactics and obstructed at meetings in October so that no further action on Korea was possible until the assembly met Sept. 19.

X-RAY, PHYSICAL EXAMS UNDERWAY

53 Advanced R.O.T.C. Students At Northeastern Complete Tests

X-ray and physical examination tests were completed by 53 advanced R. O. T. C. students of Northeast Louisiana State College, and all but a few of the other students on the campus had finished the tests Friday.

A special service provided by the health and physical education department, the examinations are under direction of the college physician, Dr. W. L. Bendel and staff. The medical authorities worked in close cooperation with A. S. Huffman and Miss Bess Hart, who supervise the department.

Tests results are used as a basis for enrolling in R. O. T. C. and will determine what physical activities college students may schedule.

X-rays were made at the Ouachita Parish Health Center in Monroe.

The 53 applicants for advanced R. O. T. C. courses, which are offered at the college this year for the first time, were first to complete their tests, in order that Major Hugh W. McClary, professor of military science and tactics, could rush a list of those passing the test to Fourth Army headquarters to get them on the government payroll.

Two applicants failed the tests, and the 51 men who passed are now enrolled in the advanced course, and will draw .90 cents per day beginning last September 13.

Heart, eye, ear, nose and throat examinations were included as well as Wasserman and Kahn tests and each student was checked for hernia. An accurate health history was also taken.

After all tests are completed and general reports received, personal conferences will be held with students concerning physical defects discovered.

Instructors in health and physical education will encourage students with physical handicaps to confer with family physicians, or specialists in order to correct the defects. The follow-up program is emphasized by the health and physical education department.

year during which fire losses were higher for the same month of 1949. Every effort should be made to eliminate fire hazards and learn how to combat fire.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, an organization carrying on a year-'round fire prevention propaganda, has just published a little 16-page booklet called "The Fire Safe Home."

The booklet points out every day, on the average, 1,100 American homes are struck by fire, and 30 Americans die by fire. The authors say that this means there is one chance in about a hundred that you'll have a home fire this year—and one chance in 20 that you will have a home fire during the next five years.

This is considered one fo the best booklets of its kind to come off the presses in recent years, and can be secured by writing to the National Board, 85 John St., New York City. This is worth a penny postcard to every householder to reduce fire odds.

An important part of training and indoctrination of the public can be accomplished rapidly by exhibition of fire films distributed by various organizations.

As just pointed out by one of the nationally known figures in the fire fighting field, the matter of preventing fire losses must be one of our prime future considerations.

"Regardless of the outcome of our present commitments to the United Nations in the Korean affair, our rearmament program will go ahead," he says.

"To meet the requirements of the arms program, and to meet the increasing demands for civilian production, we cannot tolerate we cannot afford, an annual fire loss of 700 millions of dollars. That represents raw materials, basic materials, finished products, factories, mills, warehouses, transportation, farms, and homes. It represents millions of man-hours of labor absolutely wasted, from which no one can have any benefit.

"We will eventually come to the point where our natural resources, our manufacturing facilities are inadequate, and finished goods will be unavailable at any price. It isn't a questionof saving money. Money is absolutely useless if there is nothing to buy. It is a matter of saving the things which may be irreplaceable," he concludes.

In a move for vital civil defense—especially against fire emergencies, the National Fire Protection Association fire marshals' section, with other fire organizations and industrial safety men, were some time back invited to Washington for a meeting to work out plans the F. R. B. to cover private mortgage terms may limit payoff time to 20 years and require higher installment payments for the first five years. But few banks now allow more than 20 years to pay off.

Builders and lenders, already concerned over materials shortages, have reached nervously to the coming of controls. Many have recently begun curtailing construction for fear buyers will be harder to find.

Some industry groups have warned that the government, in aiming at holding new homes starts to a level close to 800,000, may overshoot the mark, produce a slash to 600,000—and "drastic" economic repercussions with it.

Officials insist a sharp reduction is necessary to check inflation and to reduce home building's heavy use of materials and labor so they can go into the defense expansion program. They plan on curb housing now store and plant construction later.

The big slowup in housing output won't be obvious until next year, because the 1950 building season passed its peak months ago and because the law authorizing the controls forbids applying them to houses started before Aug. 3.

Naturally, earlier built houses will continue to be bought and sold without federal restrictions on the mortgage arrangements. It's unlikely, too the restrictions will apply to new homes on which firm loan commitments are obtained before the order comes out.

to handle this vitally important subject.

The group was informed that the general services administration, department of defense, is undertaking eight projects in fire prevention and fire fighting aspects of civil defense problem, with promised circulation of prepared reports.

While the planning must be carried out at top levels of government, industry and agriculture, the actual preparation of adequate protection against fire emergencies activity by each company, fire department and civic organization.

Adequate protection at the individual level calls for a more serious acceptance of second to none importance of proper fire preventive and protection methods, especially in homes, where the majority in the past have been negligent in such matters.

The irreplacable factor in both lives and materials, is a matter which should concern every citizen in the year ahead.

RICE SNAPS LOUISIANA STATE JINX, 35 - 20

OWLS MIX POWER WITH AIR ATTACK TO WHIP BENGALS

Texans Register First Victory Over Bayou Tigers In Five Years

By MAX B. SKELTON

Houston, Oct. 7. — (AP) — Rice mixed power running with passes tonight to break a five-year-old jinx and defeat Louisiana State, 35 to 20. The Rice line swarmed over L. S. U. for three periods and manufactured four breaks that put the Owls in position to run up a 35-7 score before turning their attack over to reserves in the final period.

A crowd of 52,000 saw Rice score it's first victory since 1945 over L. S. U. and gain revenge for the only defeat suffered yast year while winning the Southwest Conference championship.

All of Ric's touchdowns were scored on running plays, compared to four aerial scores last week against Santa Clara.

Three Rice drives started after its hard-charging line forced L. S. U. to punt twice, on its 42 and on its 27, and lose the ball on a fumble on its 27. Rice struck quickly for scores each time but made one touchdown on a 77-yard march.

Halfback Sonny Wyatt and Fullback George Glauser each scored twice, while Halfback Billy Burkhalter collected the fifth Rice touchdown. End Billy Wright kicked all five extra points.

Ken Konz, playing his first game at an end position after concentrating halfback duties, scored two of L. S. U.'s touchdowns, while Lee Hedges got the third. Konz also made good on two out of three extra point attempts.

Konz scored on a 23-yard lefthanded pass from Lee LaPat in the second period and on a 76-yard punt return in the last quarter.

Hedges climaxed a 53-yard final period L. S. U. drive by going all the way from the Rice 25.

Ebert Van Buren, who normally works on defense, was called in for offensive fullback duties after Rice took its strong lead. He got three important downs that contributed to the first L. S. U. score.

Stanford Takes Conference Opener With Oregon State

Corvallis, Ore., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Stanford had just three plays up its sleeve and made them pay off for a 21-0 victory over Oregon State today as both teams opened coast conference play.

The Staters gave Stanford a surprising battle after the first period in which the victors scored two of their touchdowns.

Stanford's big, rough and cagey ends — plus quarterback Gary Kerkorian — proved the margin of victory. Kerkorian passed to one score, set up another by his tosses and ends Bruce Van Alystyne romped 43 yards to the other score after nabbing a weak State punt.

Fumbles, Penalties Cost Razorbacks Frog Scrap

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Texas Christian won a tense 13-6 victory over Arkansas tonight in the opening Southwest Conference football game. It was the Christian's first victory over the Razorbacks since 1943.

Gil Bartosh—the boy who wandered from T. C. U. to Texas A. and M., then back to T. C. U., as a freshman and caused a conference investigation——teamed with Dan Wilde, Horned Frog veteran, to bring the battered Christians triumph over the massive men of the Ozarks.

Arkansas could have won the game and was in it until the final minutes. Two dropped passes over the goal line took away Razorback touchdowns and penalities dealth staggering blows to the Razorbacks at critical moments. A penalty for illegal use of the hands nullified a touchdown run by Buddy Rogers in the second period.

BAYLOR DEFEATS MAROONS, 14 TO 7

Larry Isbell Pulls Game Out Of Fire For Late-Awakening Bears

By WARREN ROGERS, JR.

Shreveport, La., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A flinging, finagling quarterback goaded Baylor's slumbering football Bears to a 14-7 comeback victory tonight over Spunky but outfought Mississippi State.

The quarterback, Larry Isbell-a brother of the fabulous Cecil Isbell of Purdue and pro football fame-picked up the flagging Baylor boys after they had struggled through a scoreless first half.

Baylor was completely outclassed by fast, sprightly Mississippi State in the first two quarters. But Isbell's Houdini-like ball-handling from the T-quarterback slot and his passing wizardy evened the score in the third quarter.

Seconds near the end of that period, Isbell completed six straight passes in a 67-yard drive. His score for the night was eight complete out of 13 thrown, for a total of 98 yards. Halfback Don Carpenter plunged one yard for a tally and Back Jm Jeffrey went over from the one after Jim Mott's 37-yard runback of a pass interception set up the second score. End Henry Dickerson converted both.

Baylor's second half play baffled the maroons who only last week upset mighty Tennessee.

State went seven yards on 10 plays for its touchdown in the second period. Frank Branch, 127-pound quarterback, mastermined the deal and halfback Norman DuPlain tallied on a 12-yard dash.

End Max Stanbrook converted. An estimated 20,000 fans saw the intersectional fray, the first defeat for Mississippi State and Baylor's second win in thre times out.

CRUSADERS OVER 'JACKS

New Orleans, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Holy Cross put its heavy offensive into motion here tonight to come from behind and defeat Bogalusa 20-13 before some 12,000 football fans.

Rabb Spearheads Tech's Rout Of Stephen F. Austin

BULLDOGS KEEP SEASON RECORD CLEAN, WIN 21-6

Ruston Ace Piles Up 113 Yards On Ground And 142 Through Air

Ruston, La., Oct. 7. (Special) Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs clung tenaciously to their undefeated record of the season by trimming the Lumberjacks of Stephen F. Austin here Saturday night by a score of 21-6.

A bright light in the proceedings was Tech's Joe Rabb, who amassed 113 yards on rushing plays and 142 yards through the air, bringing his total offense for this fall to 636 yards. He ranked third in the nation on offense among players of the smaller colleges prior to the game with the Axemen.

Early in the opening quarter, a Tech goalward march bogged down on the three-yard line, culminating a steady drive originating on the Bulldogs 35.

George Ferrington, Gene Knecht and Joe Rabb collaborated in the ball carrying. There was no other threat by either side during the scoreless period.

The Bulldogs scored a touchdown on the second play of the second quarter as Rabb passed from the 50 to Jerry Alexander, who caught the ball on S. F. A.'s 30 and sprinted the remaining distance, Ed Michael kicked the extra point. The scoring followed the interception of a pass by Tech's Maurice (Red) Rawls on his 20.

Late in the second quarter, the Axemen reached Tech's six-yard spot for their deepest penetration of the first half but on the next play Tech's John Fischer recovered a fumble on the 11 to stem the tide. The movement started on the visitors 31 and progressed mostly by air, with Hollis Slaughter, Vernon Vick, Jimmy Bonsall and Earl Little in stellar roles.

Bands and pep squads of the two colleges exchanged courtesies between halves. With the S.F.A. group delineating a colorful outline of the map of Louisiana and the local aggregation forming an array of Blue Bonnets in honor of Texas.

In the third, Tech's flashy Rabb passed from the Lumberjacks 43 to Gerold Mardis, who received the toss on the 10 and raced on to count. Michael again converted from placement, giving the Techmen a lead of 14-0.

Rabb, passing from the 50 to Mardis on Austin's 15, set up another Tech marker early in the final stanza. Then Rabb passed to Joe Strother, who was stopped at the one yard line. On the next play, John Eick plowed through the line to cross the goal line. Michaels boot added the extra point.

The Axemen had a chance later in the fourth after capitalizing on a Tech fumble that gave them possession on the 20. Slaughter passed to Leroy Owen on the 10 but on the next move Tech's captain and center, Leo Sanford, intercepted a pass on the five-yard line and ran 63 yards to the S.A.F. 32. Halfback Drake of the Austin team retaliated with an interception on the 10 to thwart the drive, and the Lumberjacks soon punted out.

In the last 20 seconds of the game, after a penalty against Tech had placed the S.A.F. gridders on the one yard line, Earl Little scored a touchdown for the Lumberjacks on the third down. A bad pass from center muffed the try for the extra point.

ARMY SHELLACKS PENN STATE, 41-7

Cadets Come To Life In Second Quarter For Display Of Power

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Sparked by Bobby Blaik's flashy passing, the Army football team began to look like its mighty predecessors today as it handed Penn State a 41 to 7 trimming. ... ...

Uncertain on offense at the outset and hampered by numerous penalties Army caught fire and turned in two sensational scoring plays at the finish to turn a tough game into a rout.

But until those last few minutes, it looked to the 26,252 fans as if Army didn't have much more than Blaik's throwing arm and a cast iron defense.

The defense twice stopped the white - clad nittany Lions from Pennsylvania close to the goal in the first quarter and Coach Earl Blaik's talented son threw two touchdown passes to Captain Dan Foldberg in the second period. It was a hard game up to that point.

Army rolled up two more touchdowns in the third quarter with Gil Stephenson and Gene Filipski scoring, but its attack still wasn't consistent.

While the Cadets got together for two long marches, the second featured by Al Pollard's 34-yard run, they were turned back near the goal on another occasion and kept getting in trouble through repeated rules infractions.

They virtually gave Penn State its touchdown, drawing two 15-yard penalties after a fumbled punt had given state the ball at midfield.

SOONERS OUTLAST STUBBORN AGGIES

Oklahoma Scores In Last Minute For 34-28 Win Over Texas A. And M.

Norman, Okla., Okla., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A desperate passing attack covering 65 yards and capped by a 4-yard touchdown run by Leon Heath with 37 seconds remaining pulled Oklahoma past the Texas Aggies, 34-28, here today.

The last minute victory extended Oklahoma's string, the longest in major college football, to 23 games.

A crowd of 40,000 watched the aerial drive that started with 1 minute and 44 seconds left and the Sooners behind 28-27.

The touchdown was the third of the day for Heath, who is the only returning starter from last year's Sugar Bowl champions. The Sooners' last defeat was to Santa Clara 17-20 the first game of the 1948 season.

The game appeared all but over and a few persons made for the Billy Vessels for a 32-yard touchexit after Claude Arnold passed to down with 3 1-2 minutes remaining and Jim Weatherall failed to make the kick good, leaving the Sooners one point behind.

But Arnold, whose quarterbacking was shaky at times during the game, came back with a brilliant display of passing to move Oklahoma to the winning score. He hit six out of seven passes in the victory drive.

Ford Handcuffs Phillies For 3 Innings, Error Robs Him Of Shutout

By Gayle Talbot

Yankee Stadium, New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—New York Yankee pitching and Yankee power sent the unhappy Whiz Kids from Philadelphia reeling to defeat, 5 to 2, in the World Series today before 68,098 roaring spectators. The fourth straight victory gave the Yankees their 13th world championship in 17 attempts.

Ed Ford Yankees

But for an error by Outfielder Gene Woodling with two out in the ninth inning, Whitey Ford, a 21-year-old freshman marvel from the sidewalks of New York, would have plastered the National League champs with their second shut-out of the one-sided playoff.

The wonderful kid had to be taken out when the next Phil singled, and the veteran Allie Reynolds went in to strike out a pinch-hitter, Stan Lopata, for the final out of the series. But the greatest cheer that rocked the arena all day accompanied the little southpaw as he strolled to the dugout.

For eight and two-thirds innings he had out-pitched three Philly hurlers, including Jim Konstanty, and had struck out seven with an amazing assortment of stuff. By all available records, Ford is the youngest pitcher ever to start a World Series game, much less win it.

While Whitey was standing the Phillies on their collective heads, his teammates burst loose for the first time in the four series games with something resembling the power for which they are famous.

Led by Catcher Yogi Berra, who got a home run and a single to drive in two of their runs, the Bombers rocked the Phil starter, Bob Miller, for two runs before he could retire the second Yank in the first inning.

Konstanty, making his third appearance in three days, was pounded for three more in the sixth, which Berra led off with a drive into the right field stands. These runs turned out to have been needed, but until Woodling made his unfortunate muff of a fly from Andy Seminick's bat at the end the Yanks appeared to be home so safely and easily that the contest was on the dull side.

This was the sixth time the New York Yankees won a World Series in four straight games—the minimum in the best four-out-of-seven contest.

There was no reason to suppose that Ford was headed for trouble in the ninth when Willie Jones, the Phil third baseman, pumped a single to left to open the inning. Nor even when Del Ennis, the next man, was struck on the right leg by a Ford fast ball. The cool youngster had been pitching out of worse scrapes than that all afternoon.

Dick Sisler, the batting bust of the series, followed with a hopper to Gerry Coleman, on which Ennis was forced at second, and then Granny Hamner went down swinging at a third strike. It appeared to be all over when Woodling trotted over near the left barrier and got under Seminick's towering fly.

But, as the crowd gasped in amazement, the outfielder let it drop to the grass and two runs dashed across. Seminick, hobbling on an injured leg, made it only to first and was relieved by a pinch runner. Manager Casey Stengel went out and had a little talk with Ford, but decided to leave him in. Mike Goliat then socked a single cleanly into left, and Casey decided Whitey had had enough glory for one day.

The crowd gave Stengel a fine booing when he waved for Reynolds to come in, but the Yank pilot evidently believed the kid had been shaken by the sudden turn of events. At any rate, Reynolds, the husky Indian ace from Oklahoma, proved to be an excellent choice if Ford had to come out.

He whizzed two strikes past Lopata, the Phils' utility catcher, missed the outside corner with a sharp curve and then came down the middle with a fast ball. Lopata took a vicious cut, missed, and the series was over.

Manager Eddie Sawyer of the stricken Phillies vaulted from his dugout and was one of the first to reach the yelling laughing Yanks to congratulate them on winning their 13th world championship.

There was a feeling at the outset today that it would be all over in a couple of hours. Bob Miller, the Phillies' freshman starter, quite obviously had little on the ball, and he wasn't helped any when Woodling, the first batter to face him, drew a life on a momentary bobble by Hamner on a bounder near secondbase.

Phil Rizzuto bounced out, but Yogi Berra followed with a hard single to right on which Woodling sped in from second. A wild pitch moved Berra to third and he scored when Joe DiMaggio pounded a two-bagger into right field. That was all for Miller, and Konstanty was given a long cheer as he strolled in for his 76th relief job of the year.

He started brilliantly, got out of the inning without further damage and retired the first nine Yankees to face him before Johnny Mize rapped a harmless single in the fourth. His soft, breaking pitches had the Yankees thoroughly puzzled, and they were trying merely to meet the ball.

That is, they were until Berra led off the sixth with his mighty swat into the seats. A hit batsman, a triple by Bobby Brown far into right-center and an outfield fly brought the final two Yanks across.

Robin Roberts who lost the brilliantly pitched second game of the series, pitched the final inning after Konstanty had been lifted for a pinch-hitter in the Phils' eighth.

Ford, who won 9 and lost only 1 after joining the Yankees early in July, gave an idea of how he comforted himself in a tight spot in the very first inning. Possibly feeling the occasion, he walked the Phillie leadoff batter, Eddie Waitkus. Richie Ashburn flied out, and then Puddin' Head Jones stroked a perfect hit-and-run double into right on which Waitkus reached third.

The kid hitched up his pants and forced the dangerous Del Ennis to rap one down to third, and Bobby Brown's perfect peg to the plate nipped Waitkus as he slid in. Dick Sisler then whiffed for the fifth time in the series to end the frame.

Again the Phils threatened Whitey in the fourth, and again he proved obstinate. This time Ennis led off with a roller down the third baseline which stayed fair, and after Sisler had flied out, Granny Hamner socked a single into right to send Ennis around to third. Seminick choked the rally when he slapped a roller to Johnny Mize, the big first baseman stepping on the bag and then whipping the ball to Berra to complete a double play at the plate.

Another double play started by Coleman helped Ford's cause in the sixth after Ennis had reached base on an error by Bobby Brown at third, but outside of those three instances the kid held the Phils under tight control until Woodling got him into trouble. He struck out one batter in each of the last five frames and appeared to get faster as he went along.

Even with today's comparatively high-scoring exhibition, the two clubs set a new World Series record by pushing only 16 runs across in the four games. The previous low mark of 18 was set in the 1905 five-game series between the New York Giants and Philadelphia Athletics.

If they are using a rabbit ball these days they must have rung in some ringers for the play-off.

On Monday will start the sad business of returning large bundles of money to fans who had bought up all reserved seats for what would have been the fifth game here and the sixth and seventh games at Philadelphia. The quick and decisive ending had no effect upon the players' shares, as they take their cut only from the first four games.

Tag Team Scramble On Mat At Kallio's Tuesday

HARRELL, CURTIS TO SHOW AGAINST PHANTOM, LOZANO

Rowdy Scramble In Prospect On Wrestling Program; New Referee Signed

The mat bruisers who gave Twin City wrestling addicts such a run for their money in a wild scramble here last Tuesday, Henry Harrell and "Black Phantom," will be back as opposing principals in a tag team match at Gus Kallio's Arena this Tuesday night.

Harrell, the roughhouse artist from Memphis and Vicksburg, who was disqualified for outroughing the villain the past week, will team with George Custis, Vicksburg, in one combination of the relay scramble while the masked Phantom will have Garza Lozano, the rough Argentine, working in his corner.

The Phantom was declared the winner last Tuesday when Referee Bill Barney disqualified Harrell fo refusing to desist in his efforts to unmask the mystery ringman after beating him to the mat. Harrell then routed the referee n his anger at the decision, giving the fans one of their wildest shows since last spring.

With Harrell and the Phantom back just about anything can happen in the relay match.

Promoter Kallio said another referee, Sidmore of Jacskon, Miss., will handle the Tuesday matches.

The tag talent will warm up in two one-fall preliminary matches beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Opponents in the early scraps will be decided at the ringside. The main event will be over a 90-minute time limit route, two falls to win.

Mackie Sparks Waterproof In Rout Of Columbia, 25-0

Waterproof, La., Oct. 7.—(Special)—Waterproof High School defeated the injury-ridden Columbia squad 25 to 0 Friday night, scoring in every quarter as Mackie Wampold ran the ball over three times and hurled the touchdown pass for the other.

Wampold ran 45 yards in the first quarter to score the first time. In the second, he repeated with a 25-yard run.

The third quarter tally came from a different angle, with Cooper taking a pass from Wampold on the goal line. The final touchdown came in the last quarter after a series of line bucks brought the Tigers to the Crimson Tide three-yard line and Wampold went over from the three.

Crimson Tide inujries have taken on a serious aspect to the small Columbia squad, with four starting backs, a guard and a center sidelined for indefinite periods.

Waterproof goes to Sicily Island next week, pitting Tigers against Tigers.

Lateral-Happy Maryland Surprises Highly Touted Michigan State, 34-7

Terrapins Spring One Of Day's Biggest Upsets In Rout Of Spartans

By Stan Bradshaw

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A lateral-happy Maryland football team, sparked by sensational sophomore Quarterback John Scarbath free-wheeled its way past favored Michigan State today, 34 to 7, in a major upset before 39,376 fans.

The tricky play of the underrated Maryland Terrapins completly outpowered and outpassed the befuddled M. S. C. Sparans, who only last week upset might Michigan, 14 to 7, and who went into the game ranked as the nation's No. 2 team.

Besides the fancy ball handling and running of Scarbath, who scored one of Maryland's touchdowns on a line plunge, the victors' stars included Ed)Mighty Mo(Modzelewski and Bob ;Shoo-Shoo(Shemonski.

Modzelewski scored once each in both the first and second periods on line plunges and Shemonski capped his sparkling line slants by a 37-yard touchdown run late in the fourth period.

The only consolation Michigan State had was the 67-yard touchdown run by Spartan halfback (Sonny) Grandelius early in the third quarter.

Maryland, getting stronger as the game wore on, poured on three touchdowns in the final period to turn it into a startling runaway after Michigan State had behind only Notre Dame in Associated Press poll.

Scarbath got one of the last period markers, center Pete Ladygo made another on a 28-yard run with an intercepted pass and Shemonski ran 37 yards on a reverse for the final touchdown.

Tackle Bob Dean convered four of his five extra point attempts.

Maryland racked up 14 first downs to Michigan State's eight, and peeled 204 yards with its smashing ground game against the Spartans' 140.

The big, fast Maryland line, headed by standout guard Bobby tan passers while the defensive Ward, continually rushed the Spar-Maryland backfield smothered receivers almost completely. Michigan State completed only three passes for 39 yards.

Even the efforts of flashy tackle Don Coleman and end Bob Carey failed to pull the demoralized Spartans together into a unit that could slap down the win-hungry Terrapins.

Statistics give a clue to the story. Michigan State quarterback Dorow, smeared for big losses on several pass plays, showed a net loss of 39 yards.

A big factor in the Marylanders' success was their intercepion of six State passes for runbacks of 77 yards, including Ladygo's touch down. Ed Timmerman, Spartan linebacker, had his team's only interception. All told, Shemonski had a net gain of 76 yards on 11 carries. Modzelewski had a net of 36 in 14 tries and Scarbath 43 on 12 attempts.

Big Ray Krouse, the highly regarded Maryland defensive tackle did not play because of a leg injury that did not respond to treatment.

Score by quarters:

Maryland	6	7	0	21	—34
Michigan State	0	0	7	0	— 7

Maryland scoring: Touchdowns, E. Modzelwski 2, Scarbath, Ladygo, Shemonski. Points after touchdown, Dean 4 (placements).

Washington Barely Gets By Uclans By 21-20 Edge

Seattle, Oc. 7.—(AP)—Don Heinrich's shot-gun arm and the pistonlegs of Hugh Mcelhenny carried Washington 85 yards in the fading minutes to a 21-20 football victory over U. C. L. A. today.

Then came that grinding knifing last-ditch drive to victory. End Joe Cloidt, who looks more like a literature professor than a gridder, caught two passes in the march and when U. C. L. A. was fighting back in the final minute it was Cloidt who bounced in to flop Florence for a damaging five yard loss.

It was Washington's third straight win.

S'EASTERN LIONS SOCK AUBURN, 6-0

Fumble Sets Up Touchdown For Underdog Louisiana Team In 3rd Period

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 7.—(AP) —The Lions from tiny Southeastern Louisiana College crept into the lair of the Auburn Tigers today and roared away with a surprising 6-0 gridiron victory.

It was the third loss in as many games for the dispirited Tigers despite a shakeup in the squad aimed at bolstering the line.

Brilliant line play by Southeastern, plus costly Auburn fumbles, told the story. Most of the games was played in Tiger territory.

It was an Auburn fumble on its own 34-yard line that gave the Lions a touchdown in the third period.

Auburn came to life in he final quarter when Tucker found his mark in the air and Fullback Jim McGowan bruised his way repeatedly through the line, but the rally fizzled.

Southeastern made nine first downs to seven for the Tigers, but Auburn outgained the visitors in rushing, 114 yards to 87.

Outstanding in he Lion forward wall were tackle Keaton, guards Robert Morse and Joe Lucia and End Noel Wilkins. Campos, Dugas and Halfback Ridley Boudreaux starred in the backfield.

PURDUE OVERPOWERS NOTRE DAME, 28 to 14

LONG WIN STREAK OF FIGHTING IRISH COMES TO CLOSE

Boilermakers Simply Outplay South Benders For Stunning Upset

By Charles Chamberlain

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 7—(AP)—Purdue today ended Notre Dame's reign of terror on the gridiron which had gone unchecked through 39 games without defeat, the greatest record in modern college football.

The sophomore dominated Boilermakers buried the Irish giant 28-14 in a stunning upset that shocked the Notre Dame campus and left 56,748 fans shaking their heads in disbelief.

It was no fluke Purdue, a 20-point underdog, outplayed the Irish in every category—including an overpowering fighting spirit and confidence.

The Boilermakers lashed to a 21-0 halftime lead. Notre Dame had cut it to 21-14 by the outset of the fourth period.

But the rally, unleashed as drizzle slicked the field, only pumped more fire into Purdue. The pent-up wrecking crew came right back to score on a 46 yard pass play, sophomore Dale Samuels to Mike Maccioli, and slam the door in Notre Dame's face.

The Notre Dame giant died without its seven-league boots on. Missing was its vaunted aerial attack and pulverizing running that had geared the gridiron goliath through four seasons without a setback.

The last time the Irish were beaten was by 39-7 by the Great Lakes Naval service team on Dec. 1, 1945. Since then thirty-seven teams folded before them.

Two others, Army with a 0-0 deadlock in 1946 and Southern California with a 14-14 standstill in 1948, came close to victory but that was all.

It was Notre Dame's first loss at home since Michigan won 32-20 in the eighth game of the 1942 season.

It was only the fourth defeat a Frank Leahy-coached team has absorbed in eight seasons. His Irish won 62 and tied five.

Leahy's pre-season plaint that Notre Dame would drop several engagements this season had been taken with a bit of salt.

But after the Irish had to go all out to shade North Carolina 14-7 in the opener a week ago, observers could see that Leahy might be right.

Purdue's victory over the nation's top-ranking team today proved it.

Notre Dame's line was ripped unmercifully, its pass attack and offense failed miserably. The Giant was thoroughly whipped.

All-American Bob Williams, the great clutch shooter, tried 20 passes and completed only seven.

A recovered Purdue fumble set up the first Irish's touchdown after two minutes in the third period. Williams passing four yards to end Jim Mutscheller.

Bill Barrett's 33 yard run ignited the second, which came in thefirst 10 seconds of the finale. John Petitbon jarred over from the six. This capped Notre Dame's only sustained drive, 57 yards in five plays.

OLE MISS WRECKS BOSTON COLLEGE

Johnny Rebels Score In Every Quarter For 54 To 0 Triumph

University, Miss., Oct. 7.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi turned up with a pass defense and running attack here this afternoon that sent them pile driving to a 54-0 victory over Boston College.

The New Englanders, making their first appearance on a Mississippi gridiron, couldn't get their highly advertised passing attack going.

Mississippi scored five times in the first half, three times in the second. Quarterback Jimmy Lear connected for six extra points, and missed two.

The loss was a heart breaker for the Bostonians, who still have their first game to win from Mississippi. Ole Miss won the series opener in 1948 by a score of 32-13 and they tied 25-25 at Boston last year.

The Boston College offensive could never get started. Though they made 14 first downs to Ole Miss' 17, the B. C. team gathered only 111 yards on the ground and 99-yards in the air, representing completion of only five of 28 attempted passes. Ole Miss covered 429-yards on the ground and 160-yards on six completions of 16 pass attempts.

Boston College threatened only once and that in the first quarter when Doug Millette, Boston College halfback, intercepted an Ole Miss pass on the Ole Miss 37 yard line. On the next play quarterback Bob Richards rifled a pass to end Mike Roarke on the Ole Miss 14 and Halfback John McCauley drove to the nine where Boston College lost the ball on downs.

A 28-yard pass from Teddy Millette, sophomore halfback, to left end Harold Maxwell accounted for Ole Miss' first touchdown.

Another 22-yard pass from sub quarterback Rocky Byrd to halfback Trigger Thompson scored the second, and Byrd heaved another one like it to right end Bill Stribling for the third.

Fullback John Dottley ran 47-yards from scrimmage for the fourth; and right halfback J. Salley skirted end for 12 and the fifth marker.

Thompson drove over from the Boston College one for the sixth, and left end Bud Slay ran 60-yards after intercepting a Boston College pass for the seventh.

With two minutes left to play, sub fullback Carl West plunged from the six for the last touchdown.

Score by quarters:

Boston College	0	0	0	0	—0
Mississippi	14	21	6	13	—54

Mississippi scoring: touchdowns, Maxwell, Thompson (2) B. Stribling, Dottley, J. Salley, Slay, West. Conversions, Lear (6).

Northwestern Slaps Navy Eleven, 22-0

Baltimore, Oct. 7—(AP)—Navy was torpedoed by the smashing of Rich Athan and bombarded by Dick Flowers' passing in a 22-0 shellacking dealt out by Northwestern before 12,000 spectators today.

Athan ripped through for two touchdowns after teaming with Dick Alban to tear the Navy line apart. Quarterback Flowers flipped a touchdown pass to end Don Stonesifer and Bob Burson kicked a field goal for the rout.

Wave Primes For Irish In Rout Of Louisiana College

TULANE SWEEPS PAST WILDCATS BY 64-0 MARGIN

Greenies Uncover Passing Attack, Brush Up On Running Game

By Keith Fuller

New Orleans, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Tulane's Green Wave overhauled its rusty offense and crushed little Louisiana College 64-0 here today, using the game to ready for Notre Dame next week.

The wave showed surprising passing strength, with Bill Bonar and Joe Ernst repeatedly hitting their targets.

Tulane ran and passed from standard T-formation plays apparently guarding any razzle-dazzle for next week's encounter with the Irish.

The top-heavy score against the little foe from Pineville, La., was far from reassuring since the Tulane line handed many scores to the backfield by sheer power, by holding out the smaller forwards.

The Louisiana College Wildcats had moments of glory. But for a time their nervous and sloppy ball handling made the score more lopsidede than it should have been.

Tulane's offense bore the fruit of a week's drill following a ragged, listless game against Alabama last Saturday. Alabama beat the Wave 26-14.

Tulane scored three times in the first nine minutes of the game. Halfback George Kinek capped his own drive with a touchdown run from seven yards out. Tommy Comeaux made good all three conversions.

Slender Ellsworth Kingery took over the running chores and after a half a dozen gaining plays scored from the three. The third touchdown came on a 35-yard pass from Quarterback Ernst to Left End Mike McClean standing in the end zone.

Louisiana college suffered from nervous jitters during early moments of the game, fumbling kick-offs, dropping handoffs, and throwing wild passes.

But the novelty of playing in big Sugar Bowl stadium wore off in the second quarter and they held Tulane to a pair of touchdowns, both made in the closing moments before the half.

Kinek set up the fourth Tulane touchdown with a punt run back all the way to the Louisiana college 12. At this point Bonar hit McLean with a short pass into the end zone for the score. Comeaux again converted from placement.

A few seconds before the half ended, Bonar whipped a 30-yard pass to Arlen Nihart standing across the double stripe. Dependable Comeaux added the extra point and the half ended 35-0.

Sandwiched between Tulane's frequent touchdowns were a few fine runs by Louisiana College Fullback Harold Garrett, who drew cheers from both sides as he crossed the midfield stripe into Tulane territory for the first time near the close of the first period.

Wesley Dyer, a small sophomore quarterback, touted as the man to worry Tulane, was wild and uncertain with his passes. But he was badly rushed by the weightier Tulane line.

The second half opened with Louisiana College showing its best defensive play of the day. It was short-lived, but for four glorious minutes the Wildcat line matched the big Tulane forward wall.

Harold Waggoner, stocky halfback who was Tulane's outstanding runner against Alabama, added a touchdown on a 42-yard break through center. Comeux kicked the extra point.

Bonar followed with a 20-yard pass to Joe Shinn standing in the end zone.

In the last quarter, Tulane added two touchdowns and a safety before the ending gun. Edward Joseph went over guard from the four and Fred Kibodeaux scored on a pass from Fred Dempsey. The safety was made when Dyer was rushed on a passing attempt and speared behind the goal line.

The lineups:

Louisiana College	Tulane
Left ends	Carpenter, Moses, Gladden	McLean, Guyton, Shinn, Harper, McElhannon, Hubbard
Left tackles	Rudd, Bullard	Helluin, Joyce, Housepian
Centers	White, Fant, Burns	Brinson, Wolfe, Dedeau, Rice
Right guards	LaCombe, Miers, Broussard	D. Doyle, Klein Schmidt, Nuss, Johnston
Right tackles	Colwell, Gladden	Fugler, Smith, Teeuws, D. Rogas
Right ends	Callendar, Smith	Kibodeaux, Shea, Kirkpatrick, G. Rogas
Quarterbacks	Dyer, Brister, McKown	Ernst, Bonar, Dempsey

Right halfbacks	Thomas, Warner, Mercer	Kingery, Batson, Joseph, Brignac, Maxwell
Fullbacks	Garrett, Kochevar, Bailey	Waggonner, Daigle, Kent, Jones, Burr, Rogers, Hahn

Score by quarters:

Conversions, Comeaux (8) (placements); safety; McKown forced out of bounds behind goal line.

Delhi Bears Down Panthers, 14 To 0

Delhi, La., Oct. 7.—(Special)—The Delhi High School Bears proved they are definitely in the running for the northeast Louisiana district Class B title here last night by handing highly touted Lake Providence, conqueror of Ferriday, Farmerville, and Winnsboro, a 14 to 0 defeat.

Bob Burnley, with a standout performance that should go a long way toward helping him clinch all-state honors, was the mainspring of the Bruin line, blocking two punts, one of which was covered by Malvern Brown for a touchdown, and repeatedly hitting Panther backs for losses.

Brown got his touchdown in the second quarter, and Leamon Best followed with another in the third period after the Bears had put on a sustained drive from their own 22 with Charles Wyly and Best covering the distance in just three plays.

Mangham Dragons Trip Gilbert Gridders, 13-6

Gilbert, La., Oct. 7.—(Special)—Gilbert High School fell victim to the Mangham Dragons here Thursday night as the Dragrons nabbed a 13 to 6 victory for their first win of the season.

Fullback "Butch" Boughton tallied in the first quarter for the Dragons after a long drive downfield. In the second period, Boughton raced 65 yards to set up the other Dragon score. Bobby Lowery drove over for the touchdown and Boughton ran the extra point across.

The Demons unleashed a passing offensive in the third quarter and scored their lone run before Mangham started clicking with a pass defensive that accounted for two intercepted passes and slowed the Demons down.

E. Lee Strickland, A. L. Scott, Boughton, Lowery, Moore and Matheny supplied the backbone for the Dragons.

Passing Of Wade Guides Vanderbilt Past Alabama In Thriller, 27 To 22

Vandy Chunker Throws Touchdown Strikes To Curtis And Cook

By Hendrix Chandler

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A surprising Vanderbilt team, sparked by the brilliant tossing of Bill Wade, upset Alabama's Crimson Tide 27-22 today in a Southeastern Conference thriller.

While the alert Vandy secondary broke up Alabama's vaunted aerial attack, Wade cut loose with three long touchdown heaves to provide the victory margin.

It was Vanderbilt's third straight win and established the smooth-clicking Commodores as a definite threat for the conference crown.

Kept on the defense for the first three quarters, Alabama sprang to life in the final period. It gave the near capacity crowd of 32,000 a thrill by counting nine points and threatening up to the final gun.

The game was only three minutes old when Wade calmly stepped back and fired an 85-pard touchdown pass to Bucky Curtis.

Before the quarter was out he his Curtis with another 50-yard toss, then looped a 15-yard scoring pass to Malcolm Cook.

Mac Robinson, a consistent ground gainer for Vanderbilt, added the third score in the second period with a one-yard stab through the line.

Coming back after the half, Wade came through with his third touchdown in toss, a 21-yarder to Curtis.

Gordon McCarter added three extra points from placement. His fourth attempt was blocked.

Wade, a lanky 20-year-old junior from Nashville, Tenn., thus has tossed eight touchdown passes in two conference games. He completed five against Auburn last week to set a new loop record.

Alabama, stopped most of the afternoon in the air, counted only one touchdown by the aeria route, a 17-yard toss from Butch Avinger to Al Lary in the second period.

Ed Salem, whose tosses beat Tulane last week, had two of his tosses intercepted. But he scored the first touchdown for the Tide in the first period on a five yard slant off tackle, and added the extra point.

Halfback George McCain scored the third Alabama touchdown in that exciting third period on a three-yard spin through the line, and Red Lutz kicked the extra point.

The two other Tide points also came in the final quarter, when Jub Jenkins caught Wade in the end zone on a pass attempt.

Butch Avinger tossed 17 yards to Al Lary for the other Alabama touchdown in the second period. Salem's kick was wide.

Score by innings:

Vanderbilt	17	7	6	0	—27
Alabama	7	6	0	9	—22

Vanderbilt scoring: touchdowns—Curtis 2, Cook, Robinson; Conversions — McCarter 3.

Alabama scoring: touchdowns—Salem, A. Lary, McCain; conversions — Salem, Lutz; safety—Wade (tacked by Jenkins in the end zone).

REDSKINS INVADE LAKE CHARLES ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Malone Promises Hard Work For Tribe In Preparing For Cowboys

The Northeast Louisiana State Indians play their third of four straight games on the road Thursday night when they go to Lake Charles for a renewal of rivalry with John McNeese State College.

McNeese, organized like Northeast as a junior college, also is entering four-year status along with Northeast as the result of summer legislative acts although both schools are playing as junior colleges on the gridiron this season.

If McNeese measures up to its performances in the last four meetings with the Redskins, it can mean another rough night for the Tribe. In six games between the two state grid rivals, McNeese had won four and lost two. The Indians won the first two played, both in 1945.

After suffering a second straight loss in the 30-13 defeat by Paris (Tex.) College in a ripsnorter last Thursday night that wasn't decided until Paris got away for two touchdowns in the final period, Coach James L. Malone immediately put his charges back into hard work upon their arrival home.

After an all-night bus ride returning from Paris, Coach Malone ordered his Redskins to the practice field Friday morning almost as soon as they arrived home. They were back out yesterday, and Coach Malone said there'd be no letup in the rough work beginning this week.

The Redskin mentor said last night he is planning some changes in an effort to strengthen his offense and defense, but no definite announcement was made as to proposed personnel changes.

Expressing himself as "not satisfied" with the day's work yesterday, Coach Malone called his boys inside for a blackboard drill, rehashing plays and individual assignments.

Malone reported the Tribe emerged from the Paris game in better physical shape than following the Kilgore contest the week before. Speaking of the Paris scrap, Coach Malone said, "We were beaten by a good, inspired football team. It was anybody's game until the last four minutes when the score stood at 13-18.

"Fundamentally, we turned in our best backfield work of the year on offense and defense. Our weakness was in the defensive line."

MIGHTY IRISH

was beginning to take the early hopes of Coach Jim Tatum seriously. The Terrapins were rated one of the top teams in the country in pre-season polls, but when they dropped their opener, they were discounted.

In Houston tonight the Rice Owls overlapped Louisiana State 35 to 20.

There was very little Michigan State could do right when Maryland started its hipper - dipper shennanigans. Sophomore Quarterback John Scarbath was the main thorn in the side of the Spartans, who only last week upset Michigan. He scored once and handled the ball most of the game.

The contest was fairly close for three quarters but it burst wide open in the final stanza and Maryland pushed over three scores. Sonny Granelius notched the only Spartan touchdown on a 67-yard run.

Southern Methodist upheld the top three's prestige by running over Missouri, 21-0. As usual it was Kyle Rote, who is developing into a one-man gang like his predecessor, Doak Walker, who handled things.

Rote struck for two touchdowns and Halfback Hank Stollenwreck tallied the other.

Hill Prince Shades Noor In Jockey Club Gold Cup

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Hill Prince led most of the way to win the $54,100 Jockey Club Gold Cup today at Belmont Park. The favored Noor was second several lengths behind. Adile was third.

Chris Chenery's Virginia-bred three-year-old champion, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, came to the wire at the end of the tough two-mile grind in 3:23 2-5.

The winner returned $4.50 and $2.20 with no show wagering in the small field of five starters. Noore was $2.10 to place.

Hill Prince picked up $36,-000, boosting his total in two years of racing to $309,940. He also passed Noor as the leading money winner of 1950, with earnings of $263,715. Noor, with $10,000 for second, now has $270,190.

Second Round Of 200-Target Event Openng Here This Afternoon

Skeet range experts move into the second week this afternoon in their attempts to qualify for the Howard Brothers Jewelers' Trophy at the Monroe Skeet range on Plum Street and South Sixth.

With competition open for the 200-mark necessary for qualification in the final, entries are broken down into different classes, making competition rougher for the double-A class, and giving the less skilled a chance to qualify.

Ross Graves, always a threat in the finals, hit 46x50 to win a basket from Carso's Grocery and Market; Bill Snyder won a wash, grease and oil clean-up, presented by Jackson Motors, and Duke Yates, Jr., hit 39x50 for two dinners at Bakal's Drive-in.

Ouachita Awaits Haynesville; Neville Visits Farmers

LIONS OPEN 'AA' CAMPAIGN WITH TORNADO FRIDAY

Tigers, At The Same Time, Will Be Tuneing For Ruston At Farmerville

Their own hometown classic out of the way, Ouachita and Neville High School return to outside competition again on the gridiron this week with Ouachita expected to have the roughest of the going in Friday night's action.

Ouachita's Lions, loser to Neville in the city championship struggle Friday night, plunges into the Class AA conference campaign by meeting the Haynesville Golden Tornado, always a rugged customer, at Brown Field here Friday night.

At the same time the Tigers of Neville will be invading Farmerville for a breathing tune-up date for their impending battle with Ruston here the following week.

For a change, the Lions may go into action against Haynesville as the less-favored club. Haynesville, in pre-season selections, was favored to run close to Byrd in the district race, but the Tornado suffered a conference loss a week ago to Fair Park, 34 to 12.

However, the Haynesville outfit holds a 13-7 win over Bossier City which beat both Ouachita and Byrd. Haynesville and Ouachita beat Ruston by identical scores, 7 to 6.

Beginning with Haynesville, the Lions will play nothing but conference games until November 10 when they play Baton Rouge and close the regular schedule a week later with Istrouma. Fair Park and Byrd follow Haynesville.

Neville, looking its best of the season in the win over Ouachita, shouldn't find things too tough, at Farmerville, but the Farmers would like nothing better than to spring an upset on the Tigers. Farmerville hopes to catch the Bengals over-confident and cocky.

The Tigers last played Farmerville year before last, winnning 48-0, in their first meeting since 1941.

Ouachita last year was a 21-0 victim of Haynesville. In 20 battles between the two schools since 1931, including two playoff scraps Ouachita has won nine, lost ten and tied one.

Mitchell	0	2	0

Bastrop made its debut in the Seventh Grade Football League here yesterday, defeating Ouachita, 6 to 0, with Barnett scoring the winning touchdown in the first quarter on an end run. Bastrop joined Selman and Neville as early league leaders.

There were three games in the Sixth Grade League. Barkdull Faulk beating Ouachita, 7 to 0; Sherrouse stopping Lida Benton, 13 to 0; and Georgia Tucker beating Mitchell, 12 to 6.

It was the second win for Sherrouse with Yerger going 75 yards on a punt return for the first touchdown and then passing to Ray for the second. Cage ran for the only conversion.

Kirby romped around end for Barkdull Faulk's lone touchdown and Gentry pulled a quarterback sneak for the point.

Mitchell grabbed the lead when Brown went for a touchdown in the first quarter, but touchdowns by Reeves in the second and last quarter saved the game for Georgia Tucker.

UPSETS STORM TWIN-A RANKS

Favored Class AA Clubs Find Going Rough With Lesser 'A' Teams

(By The Associated Press)

Louisiana double-A football was a five-ring circus of dizzy upsets Friday night in which practically every team that was supposed to win, didn't.

Class A team victories over double-A schools were so numerous there is a serious question as to which is the stronger circuit.

In their order of appearance here is what happened:

Class A. Neville of Monroe thoroughly whipped its double-A rival Ouachita of the same city 25-13. Class A. Crowley spanked double-A Lafayette 12-0. On the previous night Class A Bossier spoiled Byrd of Shreveport's homecoming 37-27.

In conference upsets, the injury-riddled Fair Park Indians of Shreveport fell before Istrouma of Baton Rouge 20-7. Fair Park was picked to win. Nicholls trounced Catholic High of Baton Rouge 27-0 in a game doped to go the other way.

A tough Class A Reserve team threw a scare in double-A Terrebonne of Houma before the bigger school edged through 18-14.

Only Jennings, Lake Charles and Forties came through as predicted. Jennings drubbed Bolton of Alexandria 52-0, Lake Charles easily won from South Park of Beaumont, Tex., 37-6. Thursday night Fortier beat Murphy High of Mobile 32-14.

Eight thousand fans watched in awe as Neville's W. T. Brown scored three touchdowns on breathtaking runs of 58, 48 and 15 yards. Only Ouachita's Bob Carter, leading double-A conference scorer, looked familiar. He accounted for all Ouachita's points.

Lafayette's big line made two goal line stands to erase Crowley scoring threats or the smaller school might have inflicted a more punishing score than the 12-0. It was all Crowley's night and nothing seemed to ignite a Lafayette offensive — not even five completed passes tossed by Dub Polson.

A crowd of 10,000 turned out in Shreveport for the Fair Park-Istrouma game spotlighted as the game of the week in double-A football. Partisan fans were rewarded by Istrouma's exhibition of fine ball handling and line busting. Pete McCully performed slight of hand with the pigskin for the Istrouma team while Fullback Dickie Craddock ripped through the line like a Sherman tank.

Nicholls was ready for Catholic High and made it evident from the opening kickoff. The Baton Rouge team, held scoreless all the way, couldn't cope with a Nicholls line that surged forward on every scrimmage.

But for a last period drive ending in a game-winning touchdown, Terrebonne would have joined the long list of double-A victims of Class A opponents. Reserve was a likely winner until the last stanza. Terrebonne's Don Dumez' arched a long pass from the midfield stripe to Camile Arceneaux for a thrilling touchdown.

Jennings and Bolton played the only district game of the night and the result was humiliating to the Alexandria school. Jennings Halfback Jim Bujol scored three touchdowns to lead the long list of scores that totaled 52 at the final gun.

Lake Charles' scrappy Wildcats walked over South Park of Beaumont, Tex., almost effortlessly and scored in every period. The Cats counted the first two times they got the ball. When South Park started a desperate barrage of passes toward the end of the game Lake Charles wound up catching most of them.

VOL COMEBACK CATCHES DUKE

Tennessee Boils Through Favored Blue Devils To Tune Of 28-7

Durham, N. C. Oct. 7 — (AP) — Aroused Tennessee spoiled favored Duke's dream of an unbeaten season today by blasting the Blue Devils 28 to 7.

Pre-season dope had pictured Tennessee as one of Dixie's best. It lived up to that rating today.

A crowd of 30,000 saw tailback Hank Lauricella put Tennessee out front in the second period with a 62-yard touchdown jaunt. Minutes later Sophomore Fullback Andy Kozar set up a second Tennessee score with a 35-yard run to the five. Lauricella passed to end Vince Kaseta for the touchdown.

In the third the Vols drove 26 yards following a pass interception with Kozar plunging over from the one.

Both teams scored in the fourth quarter. Tennessee's last touchdown came when quarterback Jim Hill intercepted a Duke pass by Billy Cox and sped 62 yards. All of Tennessee's conversions were made by halfback Pat Shires.

Duke scored in the closing minutes on a 60-yard sustained drive. Aided by penalties and sparked by Cox's passing, the Blue Devils drove to the three from where Cox went over. End Mike Souchak converted.

It was a great comeback for Tennessee which was upset by Mississippi State last week, 7-0.

Tennessee's hard-charging defensive line, led by ends Bud Sherrod and Doug Atkins, tackle Francis Holohan, and guard Ted Daffer throttled Duke's vaunted passing attack and virtually stopped the Duke running game which had swept to victories over South Carolina and Pittsburgh.

Duke had a slight edge in the scoreless first period—but from then on it was Tennessee all the way.

It was the 14th meeting of General Bob Neyland's volunteers and Wallace Wade's Blue Devils in a series that has become regarded as "a battle of the giants." Today's victory was sweet revenge for the 21-7 drubbing Tennessee received on its home field last year. The series now stands seven victories for Tennessee and five for Duke. Two games were ties.

Ferriday Bulldogs Down Oak Grove Tigers, 7 To 0

Ferriday, La., Oct. 7.—(Special)—Coach Charles Loomis' Ferriday Bulldogs soundly outplayed and defeated the Class A Oak Grove Tigers here last night 7 to 0 when they marched 69 yards in the first period for a TD and completely smothered the Lion attack the remainder of the game.

With the pigskin resting on their own 31-yard stripe, the Bulldogs proceeded to move down the field, much to the delight of the large partisan crowd.

Halfback Alvin Everhart carried three times in the drive that took only six plays to score, and he picked up six, eleven and four yards in the three attempts.

David Cuthbertson, a flashy halfback himself, ripped off 26 yards in his first assignment with the oval, for his next try and he finally circled left end for the score from eleven yards out. Charles Albert Massey, Ferriday's brilliant quarterback who handled the squad in finefashion through the hard-fought contest, kicked the extra point.

COTTON

New York

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Cotton futures were firm today. Prices started steady but continued to improve as the market attracted covering and new buying in anticipation of a low government crop next Monday. Textile mills were also buyers of cotton and offerings were confined to scale up hedges and week-end profit taking.

Futures closed 75 cents a bale higher to 50 cents lower than the previous close.

Adm. Bogan Runs Afoul With Law Officers

La Jolla, Calif., Oct. 7. —(AP)— Vice Adm. Gerald F. Bogan, 56, who retired from the navy early this year after a word battle with Secretary of the Navy Matthews, bailed out of city jail today after being booked on suspicion of disorderly conduct.

Police said Bogan, a resident of La Jolla, was booked after a dispute at a high school football game. Patrolmen reported that Bogan assertedly parked his car in a private driveway near the La Jolla high school football stadium and removed it only after "much persuasion."

Later, police were summoned by a high school football coach who said the admiral was trying to "crash the gate without buying a ticket."

Patrolmen E. M. Arthur and C. T. Mann said that Bogan told them the only way he would depart would be if he were arrested, so the officers obliged. The admiral bailed out for $25, pleaded innocent in police court, and his case was transferred to municipal court for jury trial-setting Oct. 18.

Ouachita Valley Fair Will Open In W. Monroe Monday

Monday evening, the Ouachita Valley Fair grounds will be thrown open at 8 o'clock, and the live stock department, in the new 300 foot steel stock barn, will display an interesting exhibit, the commercial booths will all be ready.

The carnival will be in full blast, with rides and other attractions, furnishing fun and thrills for all.

Snapps Greater Shows will present entertainment of a high class, and it is assured that visitors will be pleased with what they have to offer. The Seldon Stratosphere act will be an added attraction to the fair, which is presently showing in Memphis, and has recently shown at the Tennessee State Fair in Nashville.

The refreshment concession, which on Monday will be handled by the home demonstration clubs of Cadeville, Cheniere and Claiborne, will be ready to serve all who come with delicious sandwiches, coffee and cold drinks.

The uninitiated can hardly realize the stupendous amount of work entailed in the planning and executing the innumerable steps necessary in getting things ready for a fair opening. Buildings to be constructed and others repaired, cleaning, painting, expanding exhibits, securing new sponsorships, checking and coordinating worker groups, arranging for judges, etc., ad infinitum.

Working groups consist of all officials of the agriculture department, fair officials and employees, 20 home demonstration clubs, and 26 4-H clubs. Sponsors are Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Lions, Monroe and West Monroe, Kiwanis, West Monroe and Monroe, Civitan and West Monroe Business Men's Association.

The newspapers of Monroe and West Monroe have given more than 300 inches of single column space to write-ups and news items, including 3 pictures, and three full-page ads. In addition to all this, the public at large has been most cooperative, and a universal interest in the entire project has been evidenced to a greater degree than we have seen before.

Since the judging of the exhibits in the main building will be conducted on Tuesday, this particular building will not be open to the public until 4:00 p.m. that day but those who come Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning will be able to see everything else, including the carnival shows, and the spectacular Seldon Stratosphere act.

EVALUATION OF STUDY IS MADE

Learning In Newer Light Shown By Dr. Edwards Of University Of Fla.

Evaluation truly came to "The Little Red School House" Friday when the same "cabbage" that teachers have been dishing out was dished to them. It all proves that learning can be both fun and functional. Doctor Edwards from the Florida State University of Tallahassee, Fla., spoke to the entire body of elementary teachers of Ouachita parish in a morning session and high school teachers in an afternoon session.

Doctor Edwards said, in part, that the great number who were there proved our interest in our job—"for what we can do for boys and girls."

Evaluation is nothing more than improvement in the teaching-learning processes. The simile of "Old Bossy" applies very well to our educational world, "we want to give more milk."

Evaluation is not a new thing. The old Roman teachers were evaluated when some one said, "they are still dishing up the same old cabbage."

The questions we must keep before us are these: (1) What can I do to facilitate better teaching-learning situations? (2) What can I do to help the child meet his personal social needs in the basic aspects of living? (3) How can I help the child to further realize the ideals of the democratic society of which he is a part? (4) How can I help the child develop the characteristics of personality essential to effective living in a democratic society?

Evaluation first reached the high school. However, they were not so concerned with the improvement of teaching-proceedures as they were of the physical aspects. It was then decided what was good for secondary schools might be good for the elementary school. Then was begun the (1) criteria for evaluating the elementary school. 2) The study of teacher certification, supply and demand. (3) Promising practices in the elementary school. (4) Gathering factual data. However, it is believed that the elementary school should be nearer the state whereas, the high school is regional. After many conferences and much work the evaluation criteria for elementary schools was developed, which is to be used long-ranged as an inventory.

You cannot put unwarranted emphasis on one part of the school program without letting another part go. This book "serves as an analysis—not to be used just to prove we haven't lied." The analysis should be a sharing process, teacher, pupil and parent.

The criteria itself deals with the inner workings of the school. It is not an accrediting document. We do not say we need to do away with our creditation however. We need to watch for falling short of excellent opportunities for excellent learning. We need to be conscious of values and ways of pulling out these values. Which is actually what evaluation really is. We must come to an agreement of philosophy on what these values are. Unless teachers and pupils work together for these values after an agreement, they in themselves will be of no worth.

The question of "what are we trying to get youngsters to conform to" should be of paramount importance. Since the criteria is divided in five parts, for the sake of convenience only, we should find what applies to our school, our community, eac. Life is a delicate balance and so many times we only make changes to activate ourselves. The program of instruction goes beyond the four walls of our rooms.

CEREMONIAL IS PLANNED HERE

Shrine To Stage Fall Exercises On Wednesday October 18

Shriners plan to stage a big fall ceremonial here October 18. Members of the order and novices from cities and towns in Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas will be here and 300 to 400 are expected for the occasion.

Nobles and novices then are to go to Neville auditorium for the initiatory ceremonies the first section at 3:30 p.m. and the second at 5 p.m.

There will be a barbecue for all nobles and their ladies in Neville cafeteria at 6:30 p.m.

PLAN TO TRAIN CAFE WORKERS

Restaurant Sales Personnel Here To Learn Better Public Relations

The restaurant sales personnel of Monroe will study new ways of giving you better service. The state department od education is providing the training through the Ouachita parish school board in cooperation with the Restaurant Association.

Designed to make restaurant sales personality development, food service, menu planning, suggestion selling, sanitation and cleanliness. A clinic for owners and operators of restaurants will be arranged to discuss problems of restaurant operators including employee training and supervision, human relations, and reduction of costs.

Th etraining program will be conducted by Miss Ruth Parkman, restaurant training specialist on the staff of the Baton Rouge Trade School. Miss Parkman has had professional training in institutional management and dietetics and has had wide practical experience in cafeterias and restaurants. According to Miss Parkman her groups will put salesmanship to work to benefit himself and the customers.

Bobby Pappas said that he expects the program to be of great benefit to the city and to all who participate. The operators of food benefit to the city and to all who participate. The operators of food establishments have told me that they want continued training to make their slogan "Hospitality and Good Food" meaningful.

This restaurant training program is provided to communities in Louisian by the distributive education section of the state department of education. It is part of the vocational education program which Superintendent Shelby M. Jackson advocates as one phase of a total education program to meet the needs of Louisiana citizens. It is endorsed and encouraged by the Louisiana Restaurant Association.

Classes started October 2. A schedule of meetings and their locations are as follows:

MISS IDA DEAN ARNOLD WEDS LUTHER HODGE IN CROWVILLE

In a lovely double ring ceremony Friday, September 15, at Crowville, Miss Ida Dean Arnold, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Arnold became the bride of Mr. Luther Harold Hodge, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hodge, also of Crowville.

In the Crowville Baptist Church, before an altar of white gladiolas and candelabra holding white tapers, the couple exchanged their wedding vows, with the Rev. C. S. Wroten, pastor, officiating.

Guests were seated by the groomsmen Mr. Billy Earl Chisholm and Mr. Earl Amos, of Crowville and Mr. John Wayne Hodge of Winnsboro.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. D. L. Walters, Jr. rendered a program of music. The candles were lighted by Miss Gloria Dane Arnold and Miss Ola Sue Marhsall, who wore copen blue gowns pinned at the shoulder with a white carnation. Solos, "Because," "Always" and "Love's Old Sweet Song" were given by Miss Juanita Holmes, with Mrs. Walters accompanying at the piano.

As the pianist played the traditional wedding march from Lohengrins "Bridal Chorus" the bride entered on the arm of her cousin, Mr. Charlie Arnold, who gave her in marriage.

The bride wore a lovely ivory satin gown with a sweeping train. The fitted bodice was beaded around the pointed waistline, at the yoke of net, and around the long, fitted sleeves. Her veil of illusion net fell from a beaded coronet, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and tube roses.

Miss Eudolie Arnold, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore an icy pink satin gown and carried a bouquet of white gladiolis and tube roses. The bride's other attendants were: Miss Anne Sills, who wore a yellow gown and carried a bouquet of yellow gladiolis and white tube roses; Miss Syble Spearman, who wore a gown of apple green, and carried a bouquet of pink gladiolis and white tube roses; Miss Eloise Ezell, who wore a gown of emerald green and carried a bouquet of orchid gladiolis and white tube roses.

Serving the bridegroom as his best man was Mr. R. H. Stassen of Winnsboro.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the Recreation Room of the church. Welcoming the guests in the receiving line were the bridal party, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hodge, the groom's parents and Mrs. A. J. Arnold, the bride's mother.

Mrs. R. H. Stassen of Winnsboro, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the guest book.

After the reception, the bride tossed her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Eudolie Arnold, maid of honor.

For her going away costume, the bride wore a light brown suit and an emerald green blouse with brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations and gladiolis.

After the honeymoon, a few days in Jackson, Mississippi, the couple will be at home in Crowville.

The bride attended Louisiana Business College in Monroe and is now employed at a construction company at Crowville.

The bridegroom has just recently been discharged from the Army Air Force, and is presently in the Air Force Reserve.

Mary Jean Hollis Becomes Bride Of Jack Swift McCook

Impressive Wedding Ceremony Takes Place At St. Matthew's Catholic Church

One of the lovliest weddings of the season was that of Miss Mary Jean Hollis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Hollis, when she became the bride of Mr. Jack Swift McCook, son of Mrs. Rhes McCook and the late Mr. McCook.

The marriage was solemnized at St. Matthew's Catholic Church October 7 at 4:00 in the afternoon with the Rev. Marvin Bordelon officiating.

The bridal couple exchanged the vows of the impressive double-ring service before the altar which was beautifully decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums and branched candelabra holding slender white cathedral tapers.

Mr. J. F. Monroe, organist, played several selections and accompanied Miss Gertrude Sandroch as she sang "Ave Maria' and "Tanis Angelicus." The traditional wedding marches marked the beginning and end of the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in her wedding gown of white Chantilly lace with a tight fitting basque fashioned with a yoke of silk nylon net. The long Chantilly lace sleeves, coming to points over her hands, were fastened with covered buttons. The full lace overskirt ending in scallops fell over two ruffles of silk nylon net which extended into a short train.

Her veil of fingertip length was of nylon net illusion and fell from a coronet entwined satin leaves and embroidered with seed pearls, and she carried a white prayer book topped with a single white orchid and tuberoses.

Mrs. John Low, sister of the groom, was matron-of-honor and Miss Rosalie Riley, maid-of-honor. Miss Betty Roddy served as bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of lush forest green faille with basque waists with nun's scarf. For their headdress they were wearing Halo wreathes of varigated ivy. They were carrying bouquets of Anthriums and Croten leaves.

Mr. Rhes McCook, Jr., served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Mr. Walter Hastings and Mr. R. D. Carter. Ushers were G. Dan Wilkerson, Mr. Betro McRaney and Mr. Fred Gulledge. Serving as Alcolytes were Tom Mulhearn, Larry McCarthy and Pat Riley.

Mrs. Hollis, mother of the bride, was wearing a floor length model of aqua crepe and a corsage of Souvenier Roses. Mrs. McCook wore a navy blue lace floor length model over dusty rose and a corsage of Brier Cliff roses. Mrs. C. L. Glascow, aunt of the bride, was wearing a black lace model with a corsage of white roses.

Reception

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Centering the bride's table was the heart shaped wedding confection placed on a mirror reflector and decorated with fresh roses and tuberoses.

Guests were received by the bride and bridegroom, parents of the bride and groom, and members of the wedding party. Assisting in the serving were Mrs. Fred Gulledge, Mrs. J. R. Eunson, Miss Martha Roddey and Miss Joy Harper.

For her wedding trip to Gulf Hill Dude Ranch, Pass Christian, Miss., the bride was wearing a fall suit of burgandy wine with hat, blouse and gloves of white wine. Her other accessories were of black. Her corsage was the single white orchid.

The bride is a graduate of St. Matthew's Parochial School, Webster College and Louisiana State University where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority

The groom graduated from Neville High School, attended Northeast Junior College, served in the United States Navy for three years during World War II. He is a member of Phi Kappa fraternity.

MRS. O. C. LANIER HOSTESS AT MEETING OF BONHOMIE CLUB

Members of the Bonhomie Club met recently in the home of Mrs. W. O. Webb with Mrs. O. C. Lanier, hostess, and Mrs. Robert Irby, co-hostess.

Mrs. R. P. Pilant, president, called the metting to order with the reading of the club collect, "Song of Louisiana", the club song was then led by Mrs. Robert Irby with Mrs. A. C. Polk accompanying her at the piano.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Lanier introduced Mrs. Irby who gave an enlightening review of Louisiana French Folk Songs, by Irene Thirese Whitfield. Mrs. Irby said in part: "To state exactly when she began collecting the Louisiana French Folk Songs is impossible. Earliest memories are those sung in her childhood. It seems that she could yet hear, mingled with the rumble of wagon wheels, the Fais-dodo songs played on the accordian and the singing and yelling by the tenants as they ent to the ball. There were also the country school, Mardi-Gras and annual picnic memories.

No where were these old country folks able to show a printed publication of French folk songs though they sang them. They claimed they had never seen such a book and wouldn't know how to read one if they saw one.

The Cajun folk songs seem endless in length because they are played over and over again until they run on and like the flat country of the southern part of the state which developed them.

The Cajun song grows from a spontaneous outburst of emotions and varies with them. The singer makes no attempt to conceal any of his misfortune; nothing is his fault. He enjoys his sufferings enough to want to tell the world about it. His carefree nature, light heartedness and absence of the religious element shows the Cajun as frank and unafraid. He says just what he means.

Concluding her review, Mrs. Irby sang a French Folk Song, "Pauv'piti Mom'zelli Zizi" with Mrs. A. C. Polk accompanying her at the piano.

Members and guest who enjoyed delectable refreshments were Mrs. Paul Bauer, Mrs. Warren Breard, Mrs. George Forman, Mrs. L. H. Leverette, Mrs. A. J. McCready, Mrs. R. P. Pilant, Mrs. H. M. Rhodes, Mrs. Roland Waldroup, Mrs. W. D. Womack, Jr., Mrs. W. O. Webb, Mrs. Eugene Scott, Mrs. A. C. Polk, and the hostesses.

Sherrouse Parent-Teacher Group Opens Year With Luncheon Meeting

Guests Hear Plans Of New President And Report Of National Leadership Workshop

"Schools must play a major role in indoctrinating the world with democracy." This responsibility was stressed by Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl when she spoke recently to the executive committee of the Sherrouse Parent-Teacher Association and faculty.

"Educators are just as much soldiers of democracy as men who are fighting today in Korea," she asserted. "If there ever was a time that we could not retreat, it is today."

Mrs. Stahl was reporting on the workshop in Parent-Teacher leadership which she attended last August at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

The project, under direction of Dr. E. T. McSwain, dean of University College, was a beautiful illustration of democracy in action, she said.

Emphasizing the danger of losing democracy the speaker referred to Russian propaganda which hypnotizes north Koreans to fight as they do. The Russian army has 2,000,000 agitators to teach people above fifteen years of age in shops and factories. It is with this type of salesmanship that the United States must compete.

Schools are the lone agency to combat such pressure, according to Arthur Rice, managing editor of The Nation's Schools, and one of the workshop consultants.

Democracy actually operates only in asmall unit such as the home, school, community, Dr. Rice asserted. The organization which stands for these three places is the Parent-Teacher Association, he said.

Importance of leadership in education was emphasized at the workshop, Mrs. Stahl explained. The P.-T. A. may be utilized to a great extent in the filed of adult education in building good homes, schools, communities. Leadership provided through local citizens' committees cannot supplant the intimacy which exists among parents, teachers and towns, according to Dr. Herold C. Hunt, superintendent of Chicago schools, another workshop consultant. The Chicago system provides such leadership as a curriculum planning council which embraces teachers, parents and students.

Parent participation in curriculum planning is a vital factor in developing home-school relationship, Mrs. Stahl said.

Changes in course offerings are essential if we are to meet wisely the present world situation, according to all workshop consultants. It was their opinion that we cannot look to the teaching profession to make these changes quickly for teachers' security will be threatened. Changes must come from reasonable insistence of parents.

It is time for Americans to realize, the speaker sadi, that we have fought our way around the world; bought our way around the world; now we must live around the world. We must revise the psychology of our schools if we are to learn to live in an international world.

The value of the P.-T. A. leadership in accomplishing this is particularly unlimited. In judging the effectiveness of such leadership, Dr. Robert Seashore professor of psychology at Northwestern, raised most pertinent ones included: Does the P.-T A. participate effectively in the selection of capable school board members? Does it keep in touch with board meetings and policies? Do P.-T. A. members attend caucuses, elections and public hearings? Does the board of education bring before the P.-T. A. for information and discussion of such problems as salary scales, grade reports, building plans?

Commercial businesses pay large sums for customer research, Dr. Seashore said. "School administrators and boards could well make use of Parent-Teacher research," he advised.

During the social phase of the Sherrouse meeting in the cafeteria a delectable luncheon was served at the attractively decorated table, made colorful by artistic arrangements of varied flowers.

Mrs. C. S. Cadwallader, Jr., gave the invocation.

Mrs. J. Leroy Williams, president of the Sherrouse P.-T. A., reviewed in her welcoming address the five objectives of the organization. These comprised: promoting the welfare of children and youth in the home, school, church and community; securing adequat laws for care and protection of children and youth; raising standards of home life; bringing into closer relations the home and school so that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in child training; developing between educators and the general public united efforts that secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education.

Mrs. Williams said that she hoped to make a leader of every officer with a view toward increasing the strength of the organization.

Guests at the meeting were: Supt. and Mrs. J. M. Boyet, Supt. Mack Avants, Mr. and Mrs. Mike John, Mr. Jones and Mr. Kilgore, both of the state department of education, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Miss Marjorie Oliver and Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl.

TALLULAH

The annual tea sponsored by the Tallulah P.-T. A. honoring the teachers of the Tallulah school, which took place in the high school gymnasium on Thursday evening was an interesting and enjoyable occasion. On arrival guests were greeted by officers of the P.-T. A. and Ray Radford, who served as master of ceremonies.

The musical program opened with a tap dance by seven talented young dancers, Alta Gwynne Garrison, Anna Wade Godbold, Harriet Smith, LeEvelyn Grace, Carolyn Allen and Carole Adams, in attractive and colorful costumes. They were accompanied by Mrs. Harold Smith. This was followed by a violin solo by six-year-old Jerry Rankin who delighted the audience with Hungarian Dance by Brahams and as an encore he played a novelty number, "Turkey in the Straw." His teacher, Mrs. J. C. Sherwin played the piano accompaniment.

A trio composed of Miss Rowena Taliaferro, Mrs. Devonne Payne and Miss Lynn Dean Spears sang, "You Tell Me Your Dream" and "Some Folks Do". Mrs. Quincy Hargis rendered two violin solos, "La Vie en Rose" and "The Rosary". Miss Taliaferro accompanied her. An acrobatic dance by Frieda White and Wylma Roper accompanied by Mrs. Smith concluded the program after which the audience participated in a novel contest directed by Mr. Radford. The winners, Mrs. James R. Linton and Mr. Maurice Ursery received "handsome" awards.

During the refreshment hour the parents and teachers mingled in an enjoyable conversational period. The tea table was most attractive, the school colors, blue and gold, being effectively used in the low arrangements of marigolds and goldenrod with blue ribbon and fern. The punch bowl was flanked by tall blue tapers tied with yellow ribbon and the cake, baked in the form of a large open book carried out the same color theme. Names of the teachers were inscribed in blue, the high school faculty on one page and the elementary faculty on the other page. Page numbers, 50 and 51 indicated the school year. Delectable sandwiches in novel design and mints in the school colors were served with the orange punch and cake. The event was attended by a large gathering of teachers, parents and friends of the school.

The monthly meeting of the Town and Country Club was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Marcus. Mrs. Devonne Payne, who served as program leader introduced Mrs. Watson McDonald who spoke on textile and china painting in which she exhibited several interesting pieces.

Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour that followed. Those in attendance were Mrs. Ralph Loe, Mrs. James Sevier, Mrs. Norman Deckliman, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. L. S. Grace, Mrs. W. W. Pippin, Mrs. Carol Crow, Mrs. Barton Sevier, Mrs. William Bray, Mrs. Don Sevier, and Mrs. Frederick Gandy.

"EUROPE'S BASEBALL"

New York.—"Music is to Europe what baseball is to America," said H. Arthur Brown, conductor of the Tulsa (Okla.) Philharmonic, as he got of the plane the other day from Europe. Brown noted that when he was in Vienna, Salzburg, and Paris, he saw lines of people in front of auditoriums of some sort. These lines often began forming as early as 7 a.m. "All these people are interested in the fine arts and will attend performances at great personal sacrifice," Brown says. "Barbers and cab drivers wouldn't discuss batting averages as in this country, but they were authorities on arias, legatos, af the arabesques and tour jetes of the ballet."

Looking for POWER ?

Better Buy Buick!

THAT bold bonnet that stretches out before your eyes on a 1950 Buick isn't there just for show.

Lift it up, and you'll find that the space beneath is abundantly occupied, by one of the biggest hoodfuls of power you'll find in any motorcar.

What you're looking at is Buick's modern version of the high-compression valve-in-head engine, which gains extra wallop from the fact that it uses the exclusive Fireball combustion principle.

We could list a lot of mechanical reasons why fuel gives up extra power in a Fireball engine—how it's wrapped in a swirling, ball-shaped charge—how it burns with a smooth, clean thrust that delivers maximum action.

But the best way to find out what all this means is to touch off the eager horsepower out on the highway by a gentle nudge of your toe—and feel your shoulders press deep in the cushions behind them.

Now all this sounds thrilling, you say, but how about the feed-bills for all these horses? How about miles-per-gallon?

The practical answer to that one is found in this year's experience with the SUPER and SPECIAL—and even the ROADMASTER.

In all three, the horsepower was stepped up at the start of the year—and in all three, happy owners report the best mileage in modern Buick experience.

This is due to a little-known but authentic engineering fact—which is that an engine burns less gas when it doesn't have to labor. At any normal driving speed, therefore, extra power is extra thrifty.

So we say again—if you're looking for power—mighty power—buoyant power—silken power—thrifty power—better buy Buick.

Your Buick dealer is eager for the chance to demonstrate how sound this hint really is.

ONLY BUICK HAS Dynaflow DRIVE* AND WITH IT GOES: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

PLAN SQUARE DANCE

Gala Square Dance To Be Given Wednesday Night

Event Planned By Delta Rho Delta Sorority To Aid Girl's Work In Community

One of the most outstanding dances of the season will be the benefit square dance and floor show to be presented on Wednesday evening, October 11 from 8 to 11 p.m. at Skateland, 1300 Louisville avenue by the Delta Rho Delta national business and professional women's sorority.

Along with the square dance, the local chapter has arranged to have a gala floor show at intermission. The public will undoubtedly be pleased to know that all seen in the Maupins dances are local people and some of Monroe's outstanding talent. This local talent is blended together into a fine evening of entertainment by a group of "Square Dancers" from Bastrop directed by Mr. Crawford Little and Mr. L. E. Rawls. The entire program promises to be entertaining and enjoyable, states Miss Ann Mickel, general chairman.

As a director of outstanding merit for suare dances, Mrs. Tom Jett and Sigma chapter members have assured the public that the square dance will satisfy the taste of everyone who comes. Music will be furnished by a "fiddling band" from Winnfield, La.

The annual sorority fund raising campaign is presented in order that funds may be raised to carry out the many social service activities of the chapter during the carry out worthwhile girl's work in the community.

Besides raising money for these necessary civic causes, the Delta Rho Delta national sorority will provide the public with one of the most elaborate bits of entertainment presented in this part of the state recently.

The concession stand, in charge of Mrs. W. J. Fields and her committee, promises a variety of homemade candies, barbecued hot dogs and cold drinks.

Tickets may be purchased from any local Delta Rho Delta member, or from the Rancher and the public is urged by Miss Lillian Glenn, co-chairman, to buy them for a two-fold purpose. First and foremost, a very worthy cause will be served; and second, the entire family from the oldest to the youngest will see a square dance that will linger long in their memories.

BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Rose Mary Myers whose engagement to Earl Patten Gore, Jr. of New Orleans, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Myers of Columbia. The wedding will take place at the Trinity Episcopal Church on October 21.

FROM PRIVATE TO CAPTAIN

New York.—(AP)—When former British Commando Robert F. Bishop of Baltimore, Md., jumped from private first class to captain in the United States marine corps, he fulfilled the dreams of almost every leatherneck private.

Captain Bishop joined the British army as a private and in 1940 entered the British Commandos, seeing action in ten different countries. Wounded at Salerno, where his outfit suffered 80 per cent casualties, Bishop was commissioned a first lieutenant. At Anzio, he became a captain.

When discharged at the end of the war, Bishop went to Canada and entered the Canadian reserves as major. Last year, returning to the United States, he enlisted in the marine corps reserve as a private. Two weeks after reporting to Camp Lejeune with the fifth infantry battalion, U. S. M. C. R., as a Pfc. in an assault platoon, he was notified that his application for a commission had been approved.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

In selecting books for the Ouachita Parish Public Library it is the plan of the librarian to get books that will help the people of the parish lead a happier and fuller life. During the past month books on a wide variety of subjects have been added to the library collection. Listed below you will find comments on some of them. Surely there is one that you need in your work or your avocation. Call your branch of the library and make a request for the book which appeals to you.

Are you concerned about the international situation (and anyone who thinks at all is)? Then you will want to read "American-Russian Relations in the Far East" by Pauline Tompkins; "The Life of Mahatma Gandhi" by Louis Fischer; "Democratic Monarchies of Scandanavia" by Ben Albert Arneson; "Truman, Stalin and Peace" by Albert . Carr; "How To Win an Argument With A Communist" by Ray Sherman Wesley and "Treason' by Nathaniel Weyl. Each of these books has something which will give you a better understanding of the world in which we live. You owe it to yourself and to your country to be informed as to what is going on in the world.

Are you planning to build a home soon or in the distant future, you can inform yourself about the kind of home you want by using such books as "House Construction Costs by George Underwood; "How to Have A Better Home by Paul T. Hagen; "Your House Begins With You by Harold V. Walsh; "A Home of Your Own, How to Build or Buy It by Julien T. Roth; "The House For You to Build, Buy or Rent, by Catherine Sleeper; "How to Build Your Own House by Hugh Laidman. These books and many others are available at the library.

Do you have a teen-age daughter? If so, she should read 'Facts of Life and Love for Teen-Agers by Evelyn Millis Duvall. ITS SINGAPORE SCHOOLS

Singapore —(AP)— A protection racket among Singapore school boys was revealed recently. The usual procedure: a small boy gets knocked about by a bigger bully for one or two days. Then a schoolboy of the "protection gang" approaches the small boy and offers to protect him at a price—one dollar or 50 cents a month.

Mary Louise Harvey, Bride Of Mr. Robert B. Guerriero

Impressive Double-Ring Ceremony Is Solemnized In Jackson, Miss. At Nuptial Mass

Of interest to friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Louise Harvey of this city, daughter of Mrs. I. A. Daniels, Sr., and the late Mr. C. L. Harvey of Vicksburg, Miss., to Mr. Robert B. Guerriero, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Guerriero, Sr., on August 28.

The impressive ceremony was solemnized at a nuptial mass at 8:30 o'clock in the morning at St. Peter's Catholic Church. The Right Rev. Monsignor Joseph Brunini officiated, using the impressive double rites. Bishop R. O. Gerow, bishop of Natchez, gave his special blessing to the bridal couple.

The ceremony was performed with only relatives of both families present.

During the mass and the nuptial ceremony, beautiful wedding music was played at the organ console and the traditional wedding marches were rendered. "Ave Maria" was among the vocal selections rendered.

Mrs. Louis B. Bulvihill of Natchez was matron-of-honor and the bride's only attendant. She was wearing a model fashioned of satin in an off-shade of purple. She wore a white carnation corsage and her accessories were black.

The bride was radiantly lovely in a stunning two-piece cocktail suit of champagne satin. She wore a smart close-fitting brown felt hat with champagne colored feather and her slippers were of brown suede. A golden throated white orchid with cascade of white satin ribbon topped the white prayer book she carried.

Mr. Charles McVea Oliver of this city served the groom as best man.

Following the ceremony the bridal couple left on their wedding trip to New Orleans, Shreveport and Dallas. For traveling the bride wore a modish smoke gray suit and a striking hat of pink and gray. Her bag and slippers were black.

The groom is a graduate of Tulane Law School where he was a member of Phi Delta Phi.

Attending the wedding from this city were Mrs. Lou Anna Collins, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hodges, Sr., S. E. Hodges, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Guerriero and Mrs. B. W. Morrison.

MRS. JAMES A. NOE GUEST SPEAKER AT HOME GARDENER CLUB MEETING

The Home Gardener Club met in the home of Mrs. Gerald Frasier at 2800 S. Grand street last Monday evening. Mrs. L. A. Smith, Mrs. T. L. Firnberg, Mrs. John Freeman, and Mrs. Roy Colquette served as co-hostesses. The living room was adorned with beautiful flower arrangements done by Mrs. M. J. Hortman. Mrs. Hortman used butterfly lilies for a line arrangement on the mantel. A particularly striking table arrangement featured the rich velvet red Cockscomb combined with a mass of greenery.

The program chairman, Mrs. M. W. Montgomery, presented Mrs. James A. Noe as guest speaker. Mrs. Noe, in her gracious manner, spoke on the subject of "Trees." In her introductory remarks, Mrs. Noe stated that trees are man's expression of his belief in the future and his gratitude for the past, and that everyone should leave a tree. Mrs. Noe had visited Thule, Mexico, and seen the famous cypress tree there which is said to be the oldest living thing in the world. The dimensions are tremendous, being 50 feet in diameter, 154 feet in circumference, and 456 feet high. It is 5,000 years old and until 1912 the Mexican government maintained a guard around it.

The chief topic of Mrs. Noe's talk concerned Louisiana trees. She pointed out that if one plans to plant trees, do it immediately. However, one must use extreme care in placing trees in the proper place to derive the most benefit from their lovely shade. For instance, few city lots are really large enough for a magnolia tree, since this is an evergreen and will shut out light and cause dampness as far as 100 feet from a house. Mrs. Noe went on to say that a good policy in planting trees is to place the short-lived variety near the house and the long-lived ones further away. Always use a good commercial fertilizer when setting out trees. She mentioned the pin oak as a particularly satisfactory shade and said we should plant tulip gingko trees for their beauty. The famous gingko tree in Monroe is on South Grand near Leighton's Castle and turns butter yellow in the fall. This is the only tree left from the Ice Age. Mrs. Noe said nut and fruit trees were desirable for their products, although the pecan is not entirely satisfactory as a shade tree, having limbs too heavy for its trunk.

Mrs. E. L. Hoskins presided over the business session and Mrs. Aline Banister acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. S. D. Burnett. Following the roll call and minutes, reports from various committees were heard. Mrs. L. N. Copes then presented an interesting report on what the Jaycees are doing to fight Communism in America. Mrs. W. E. Young was then elected Assistant Secretary. Three new members, Mrs. J. J. David, Mrs. H. S. Trammell and Mrs. L. R. Harrison, were recognized, and one visitor, Mrs. K. M. Willis. The meeting was adjourned and spiced tea and cookies were served to the following. Mrs. Aline Banister, Mrs. Florence club year. The money derived from the Square dance will be used to Brothers, Mrs. Roy Colquette, Mrs M. M. DeWees, Mrs. R. N. Dozier, Mrs. T. L. Firnberg, Mrs. R. G. Frasier, Mrs. J. A. Funston, Mrs. H. O. Hartman, Mrs. M. J. Hortman, Mrs. E. L. Hoskins, Mrs. Vernon Lewis, Mrs. M.W. Montgomery, Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, Mrs. A. F. McMullen, Mrs. J. A. Peters, Mrs. F. V. Reitzell, Mrs. F. C. Leaves $5,000 For After-Death Party

Riverhead, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A quiet man who never went to parties left $5,000 in his will so his friends can have a blowout at his expense.

Charles J. Walter, wealthy sugar broker of Huntington, Long Island, died last May 13 at the age of 82.

His will, filed yesterday, provides $5,000 "to defray expenses of a gathering of my friends six months after my decease."

The six months will be up on November 13.

Walter left the party money in equal shares to his friends, William Pinney of Edgarton, Mass., and Robert Atkinson of New York City.

Said Atkinson: "He (Walter) never attended a party. Under the circumstances, I think the family should initiate things. After that, I would be glad to cooperate."

The amount of the bulk of the estate, not disclosed, was left to Walter's daughter, Mrs. Grace Gerard of Huntington.

She said she had no objection to the gathering and would discuss the matter with Pinney and Atkinson next week.

J. Paul Hewitt, president of the association, will preside at the event. A committee headed by Mrs. Maud Mayo and Mrs. June Strausser is in charge of dinner arrangements. Five local flower shops are providing the decorations for the occasion.

Division chairmen who will be present include Mrs. Florence Allbritton, Mrs. J. Paul Hewitt, Mrs. Alta C. Faircloth, Mrs. Melba Liner, Mr. Chevis Sherrouse, Mrs. David L. Agnew, Frank Parker, Miss Mary Humble, Harey Lemert and Mrs. O. K. Bailey.

James Marlow:

THE NATION TODAY

By Max Hall

(For James Marlow)

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—John L. Lewis president of he United Mine Workers, is one of our leading feudists.

He waged a memorable feud with President Roosevelt.

He is feuding with Presiden Truman, and they had another little scrimmage this week—something about dogcatchers.

His rupture with C. I. O. President Philip Murray made labor history.

Only a month ago he sent another of his crushing, sneering letters to A. F. L. President William Green.

Lewis, regardless of what you think of him, occupies an important position in the 20th century history of this industrial nation. After his death, when hatreds have cooled and more evidence comes to the surface, scholars will be better able to determine how much hero and how much villain he is.

An acquaintance said to me at lunch recently: "I have come to the conclusion tha John L. Lewis is the greatest living American."

"How do you define greatest?" I asked.

"The man who's done the most for the welfare of the American people."

My luncheon acquainance has been a student of the labor movement for 15 years. He is not connected with a union. He said he based his opinion partly on conversations with coal operators, Lewis' traditional enemies across the bargaining table.

His statement illustrates how complex and puzzling Lewis is.

There are other students of the labor movement who see Lewis as a reactionary influence, a man with an ego as big as a coal field, who would put the interests of coal miners ahead of the general welfare, who is blind to America's role in world affairs, and who is mainly responsible for bringing the Taft-Hartley act down upon organized labor and keeping it there.

All agree hat Lewis, as principal founder and first president of the C. I. O., was the leader of the movement in the 1930's to organize the factory workers—and this movement was a very important event in American history.

All agree that Lewis is shrewd, courageous, and eloquent. It seems probable that he is the greatest commander and strategist that the country has yet produced on either side of the warfare between management and labor. He has won many victories and many benefits for his miners.

Whether those things make him the greatest American is another question.

His critics point to the coal strikes that he called in the middle of World War II. His friends say that he never allowed coal supplies to reach a dangerous stage.

His critics contend there is a lack of democracy in his union. His friends say the miners are satisfied.

He is often grim, sullen, and sarcastic in public. His official biography says he is really affable, big-hearted, and courtly.

The "dogcacher" episode came about as follows:

In the spring of 1949, Mr. Truman got a letter from a friend, Neal Bishop, a member of the Colorado legislature. Bishop humorously proposed Lewis as ambassador to Moscow. The president replied that he appreciated the humor in Bishop's letter, and that, as Bishop already knew, he would not appoint Lewis dogcatcher.

Bishop kept this reply a year and a half, and this week, for some reason, he made it public.

That gave Lewis an opportunity to take the spotlight. He turned the occasion into an attack on the state department, which is the favorite target of the Republicans in the congressional campaigns now going on. (Lewis is generally considered to be a Republican.)

Lewis, in a letter to Bishop, said that if he were named to head the "department of the dog," he would begin by impounding all the "pusillanimous pups" which now "infest" the state department. He also said that the president could ill afford to make the appointment because there would be more brains in the dog department than in the state department.

In Hollywood With

Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood, Oct. 7.—Miriam Hopkins, on completion of her role in "Carrie," will file suit for divorce against her long-estranged spouse foreign correspondent Ray Brock. . . .Aside to Kirk Douglas: Think twice before refusing to be photographed with your constant date, Irene Wrightsmen; the lensmen of the Hollywood press are noted for carrying grudges . .I near that producers Samuel Goldwyn and Harry Cohn, having feuded with everyone else in their time, have now got around to feuding with each other.

Columnist Florabel Muir's forthcoming book, "Headline Happy," probably will make Hollywood anything but happy; it reviews, in detail, the Charlie Chaplin, Mary Astor and Errol Fynn scandals. . . Wotzis about Lauren Bacall and Humphrey Bogart quarreling loud enough for neighbors to hear?. . . Sol Lesser and Producer Erich Pommer will team to film a series based on Upton Sinclair's "Lannie Budd, American" stories. They'll star an unknown and produce in Europe. . .If U-I bosses can be convinced that the health of actress Josephine Hull will stand the strain, they want to star her in Marie Dressler type roles.

Howard Hughes' interest in Italian actress Gina Lallabrigido (she starred in "Pagliacci") is more than "professional". . .Add sidelights on Hollywood: Ray Kellino, ex-husband of his host's wife, houseguesting with the James Masons. . .Time out for Feeman Gosden (Amos of "Amos and Andy"), hospitalized for check-ups and a possible major operation.

Preview nights: Pic of the week: Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's "King Solomon's Mines" (Deborah Kerr-Stewart Granger). For sheer beauty, breath-taking suspense and spellbinding wild animal photography, rate this technicolored adventure story, filmed in Africa, as tops. And take the kids; they'll love it!. . .Good: 20th Century's "The Jackpot" (James Stewart-Barbara Hale). A brilliant satire on radio's "give-away" programs—and it will give you a jackpot in all-out laughs. . .Fair: M. G. M. "Dial 1119" (Marshall Thompson-Virginia Field). A tightly-plotted, suspenseful, crime thriller that reaches dramatic heights, but is apt to displease many fans because of its too-grim story and treatment. Leave the kids at home when this one plays your theatre . . .So-So: Columbia's 'Between Midnight and Dawn" (Mark Stevens-Edmond O'Brien-Gale Storm). Cops-and-robbers melodrama marred by a limpy plot. . .Columbia's "Chair Gang" (Douglas Kennedy-Marjorie Lord). While berating the chaining of prisoners on road gangs, this one never breaks the shackles of its own too-talky script . . .Best Performance: Stewart Granger in "King Solomon's Mines."

Hollywood gossip has it that Gloria Swanson, on the strength of her comeback in "Sunset Boulevard," is going to set up shop as an independent producer and film her own life sotry. Personally, I doubt it. Gloria has become a better than average business woman-must too smart, certainly, to be unaware of the fact that extraordinarily expensive pictures aren't paying off at the box office. And in view of her five marriages and innumerable romances, the budget for her life story would be nicked at least a million for leading men.

Speaking of independent production, I'm a bit amused by a complaint that I've heard on all hands from indie producers. Most of them, having been employed in show business, in one capacity or another, for many years, may be excused for feeling that they are capable of passing on the merits of a screen-play. But capable or incapable the final word on nine-tenths of the stories considered for independent production, these days, is being spoken by bankers. The indies are dependent upon the banks for finance, and the banks insist on the right to okay, or reject, scenarios. Considering the percentage of cinematic flops turned out by independent companies in the past three or four years, it might be a good idea for would-be bankers to study literary appreciation as well as economics.

At R. K. O., the other noon, a "sweet young thing" who s been cast as the typical American girl in several movies, was complaining bitterly because she's never allowed to play "bad girls". Obviously, she considers cinematic wickedness the one sure road to success, nor is she alone in that opinion. It's shared by almost every "sweet young thing" with whom I talk. The reason I made a particular note of this very commonplace conversation at R. K. O. is that only a few minutes before I had noticed an ex-actress named Mary Pickford entering Hollywood's biggest bank. Miss Pickford, according to all local financial authorities is the richest lady in Hollywood. She got that way by specializing in screen portrayals of sweet young things.

POSTPONEMENT DENIED

Toledo, O., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Curtis W. Hopkins, 32-year-old Negro, was denied a postponement here today in a federal move to return him to Mississippi to face a rape charge.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche last November refused to approve the Negro's extradition to Mississippi to stand trial. The Negro is accused of attacking a white woman.

However, Hopkins was ordered held for a removal hearing today in federal court here on a charge of unlawful flight to escape prosecution.

U. S. Commissioner John Barone signed the order after he overruled a plea in behalf of Hopkins for a six-day postponement to obtain counsel and prepare defense.

Bible Comments
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

"If any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of His." That is the clear, explicit statement, as revealed in Romans 8:9, of what it means to be a Christian.
But what is the spirit of Christ? And what does it mean to have it?
The spirit of any man is evidenced in his life and character and in his words and deeds. This was true of the Christ. It is in Jesus of Nazareth, in all that He said and did, in all the records of that wonderful life that we must know and understand the spirit of Christ.
We see that spirit revealed in what Jesus repeatedly said concerning Himself, His mission, and his purpose. That is the very essence of a true Christian—to have a mission and purpose.
A Christian is not a drifter, living haphazardly from day to day. In the Lord's prayer he prays for daily bread, and that daily bread is for the sustenance of a well-directed life, devoted to the will of God, to be done in earth as in heaven.
It was in that will of the Father that the spirit of Christ, the mission and purpose of Jesus, centered. He came to give life, and to give it more abundantly. He came with a gospel of God's grace, to seek and to save the lost. He came to bear witness unto truth, to proclaim the truth that would set men free.
Holiness, honesty, truth, love and grace—these are the marks of the spirit of Christ. For the true Christian they are elaborated and listed as the fruits of the Spirit, in Galatians 5:22, "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law."
We are in a world of war; suspicions, jealousies, hatreds are rife, not only in individuals, but in organizations and nations. Crime and violence, drunkenness and debauchery, are in almost every community. The law that is, or ought to be, against these things is powerless in some of our largest, and what ought to be our finest and most progressive, cities, often because of the corruption and dishonesty of the very officials who have sworn to enforce the law.
We are living in a complex, confused, difficult, and in many respects a corrupt time. But the fruits of the spirit, the qualities of the true Christian, are essential to good living, safety, happiness, and true prosperity in society. There is no true way of life but God's way, made manifest in the life and spirit of the Christ.
The greatest need of the world, as it has ever been, is for true Christians, who will follow that way, and live in that spirit.

REVIVAL SLATED AT NEW CHURCH

Memorial Park Baptists To Open Series Here This Morning

The Memorial Park Baptist Church will begin revival services Sunday lasting one week. The pastor, R. L. Ross, Jr., will be the speaker at all services, speaking on subjects of vital interest to all.
Reverend Ross has been active in the religious, business and civic activities of Monroe and Ouachita parish for the past twenty years. During this time he has led many of the small churches to a full and substantial work, leaving them in the hands of well-trained and capable ministers.
His latest accomplishment prior to returning to Monroe after an absence of 18 months, was the erection of a fine church edifice in Stockton, Calif. During his ministry at Stockton there were over 100 additions to the church. The Memorial Park Baptist Church of Monroe, of which he is pastor, was organized August the 13 under his leadership. They are at present engaged in the redecoration of the auditorium on Chappel street with plans to sart an educational building this month.
A cordial and warm welcome is extended to all to attend the revival services starting Sunday the 8th.
The message Sunday morning of the fifteenth, on "Heaven" will be dedicated to the memory of the pastor's sister, Mrs. J. E. Weir and Dave Da Mour, recently called to their Heavenly reward.

CUB PACK 35 HOLDS MEETING

Recently Formed Group Has Enthusiastic Meeting Thursday Night

Cub Pack 35 of Selman Field held its regular monthly pack get-together at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, October 5, 1950. Sgt. Harold J. Douglas, assistant cubmaster, presided over the meeting.
The pack charter, which was just recently received, was presented to Huddle Grant, committeeman of the pack, and the new pack flag was presented to Cecil Wilks, chairman of the committee. Cub Scouts Melvyn Douglas and Herbert Davis received their Wolf advancement. Cub Scout Douglas also received a Gold Arrow Head for completing 10 electives required in the Wolf rank of Cub Scouting. The outstanding feature of the evening was a western sketch presented by the boys of Dens 1 and 2.
The boys rode into the campfire area just at dusk and proceeded to guard the cattle, sing songs around the chuck wagon, and talk of the day's work. The scenes prepared by Den Mothers Mrs. Huddle Grant and Mrs. C. T. Davis with the aid of Mrs. Cleora Wilson were most realistic—especially the covered wagon and the cattle. The songs were "Home on the Range," "I Had A Little Pup," and "America."
Mrs. Wilson, the ideas chairman, promises to have a fine program in connection with the theme for the next month's activities and invites the many parents, friends and neighbors to attend the next meeting. Cubs present and taking part in the western sketch were: Herbert Davis, Wayne Parker, Melvyn Douglas, Sammy Brumley, J. P. Hendrix, Kenneth Wilson, Kenneth Stockwell, Ray C. Brown, John Edniston, Allen Sharbono, James Rabun, Clifford Packard and Kendall Grant.

'Our Very Own,' With Young Cast, Presents Intimate Domestic Film

Ann Blythe, Joan Evans Starred In Picture At Paramount Today

Adoption has come to be an everyday occurrence in American family life, with requests for adoptive children far in excess of the available youngsters. Now we have an extensive, sound and extremely appealing screen treatment of the subject in Samuel Goldwyn's "Our Very Own," a beautifully produced film, which opens a four day engagement at the Paramount Theatre today.

It never becomes documentary. The story is woven into the events of a June week—as it happens, high school graduation week—in the life of a delightfully recognizable American family. Only incidentally does the film show the wrong and right way to handle the fact of adoption, revealing to parents that it is better for the child to know from the beginning that he was chosen to belong to their family.

In the film, the Macaulay family has three daughters, the eldest of whom, Gail (Ann Blyth), had been adopted. Later, when two daughters were born to them, the parents could not bring themselves to tell Gail that she was to them any different from her sisters, since their love for her was equally as great.

It is on her eighteenth birthday that Gail is rudely informed of her status by her next youngest sister Joan (Joan Evans), who has accidenly come across Gail's adoption papers. What has brought on the revelation is a little family drama of the most believable sort—the younger girl is jealous of her sister because she has a crush on Gail's fiance (Farley Granger). The shock to Gail, her headstrong search for her real mother, the added crushing blow of her mother's indifference to a reunion, and the girl's final recognition of her own good fortune all are told with deep understanding.

In addition to its tender and wise handling of its theme, the film is so full and running over with amusing details of living with three growing girls and the activities of the high school crowd, that one is pleasantly immersed in youngness! For once, nothing is overdone, not even the high-schoolers' affinity for driving every sort of automobile. The parents are played with sheer perfection by Jane Wyatt and Donald Cook; Ann Blyth conveys the stunned incredulity of Gail's experience, and the gradual emergence of her essentially grateful Wood is funny and endearing as nature, in lovely fashion. Natalie the littlest sister.

AT PARAMOUNT

Love stirs Farley Granger and Ann Blythe in a scene from "Our Very Own" starting a four day engagement at the Paramount Theater today.

His home was in Roanoke, Va., but he had been living in a Washington apartment where he died at 6 a.m. Associates said death apparently resulted from a heart ailment.

AT THE JOY THIS WEEK

Betty Grable's "million dollar legs" are displayed in a production scene from the Twentieth Century-Fox Technicolor musical "My Blue Heaven," in which she is co-starred with Dan Dailey at the Joy Theater. With its 1950 story and song score "My Blue Heaven" is a distinct departure from Betty's recent period films.

'My Blue Heaven' Delightful Hit Plays At Joy Theater This Week

Betty Grable And Dan Dailey Starred In New Musical Show

The season's most delightful musical comes to town today with the arrival of "My Blue Heaven," co-starring Betty Grable and Dan Dailey, at the Joy Theater. The world's most popular blonde, as a prominent national magazine recently profiled her, and the screen's most amiable light comedian and song-and-dance-man make the most engaging team in movie today. When Betty Grable and Dan Dailey get together, they light up the screen with sparkle. And that is just what "My Blue Heaven" is, a sparkling and heavenly Technicolor entertainment.

One prime reason "My Blue Heaven" is such an eminently satisfying show is that the eight new songs which comprise the Harold Arlen-Ralph Blane score rank among the best ever composed for a movie musical. Another, and even more unusual asset for a musical, "My Blue Heaven" has a story that is both comic and tender, and with enough heart appeal for a topflight non-musical film. This combination of gay musical and warm story assures audiences of a memorable moviegoing treat in a bright, modern show.

The picture casts Miss Grable and Dailey as a celebrated husband-and-wife team of radio entertainers. It moves smoothly between the affairs of both their private and public lives. In the former it is concerned with their inability to have a family of their own and their endeavors to adopt a baby. In the latter it follows their progress in switching from radio to the new medium of television. "My Blue Heaven" marks the first Hollywood invasion of TV, and reveals more about its mechanics and techniques than any video viewer ever saw before.

The top number of the "My Blue Heaven" score is "The Friendly Islands," in which a dark-haired Miss Grable joins Dan Dailey in a witty and wonderful take-off on "South Pacific." For the occasion Mr. Dailey has assumed an Ezio Pinza voice that should have the great Italian himself looking twice. Also capital entertainment are "Don't Rock the Boat, Dear," a two-part Grable-Dailey offering that ought to duplicate the success of "Baby, It's Cold Outside;" "Live Hard, Work Hard, Love Hard," a sultry blues number sung and danced by Dailey; "It's Deductible," a cute travesty on tax-time; and the bouncy "Hallowe'en," topical for the fall holiday. The Walter Donaldson-George Whiting venerable title tune comes in for a vocal play also.

In addition to the starring players, "My Blue Heaven" features the upcoming star David Wayne in a strong assist on the musical numbers; the talented Jane Wyatt; and a wonderful newcomer named Mitzi Gaynor, sweet nineteen and already incredible adept at all-round musical comedy work. Una Merkel, Louise Beavers and Laura Pierpont round out the company.

Couple Meets For First Time In Thirteen Years

New Orleans, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Choked with emotion, Stanimir Raverta today hugged and kissed his wife he last saw 13 years ago in Yugoslavia as a bride of one month.

With her as they stepped from a plane at Moisant International Airport here was a 12-year-old daughter, Nada, he had never seen.

Raverta, marine superintendent for the army transport service at the port of embarkation here, laughed with tears in his eyes at his daughter.

"She was too shy to even look me in the eye," he said.

He presented his wife and daughter each with a small American flag and then a big bouquet to his wife.

"It was a long struggle," the father said, in telling of the separation, "but it looks now like the 13 years were just yesterday."

Theirs was a story of forced through the night to avoid German soldiers and heartbreaking difficulties of remaining in touch.

Raverta said he was a graduate of the Yugoslavian naval academy when he took his bride. He went to sea, but war threw a vicious left hook into their lives.

He was caught away from his native land, never saw his wife again until she raced into his arms here.

He said his wife and daughter, who do not speak English, did not know he was alive or dead until 1946.

WEST MONROE LIONS ASSEMBLE

Club Presents Mitchell Football Captain With $250 Check For Team

The West Monroe Lions Club met Thursday night with the best attendance since the beginning of the 32nd week 100 per cent attendance period. Present as guest speakers were Mrs. Amiee Cook, principal of the Mitchell School and William Ragland of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Ragland gave an interesting and convincing talk on the Jaycee theme and project for this year, "Democracy vs. Communism and Socialism." Ragland said that this theme originated locally and was gaining nationwide publicity as a Jaycee project and had been endorsed as the national project of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He gave some facts about this nation's trend toward socialism and stated that after a nation becomes socialistic, the next automatic step is communism.

Mrs. Amiee Cook introduced Ronnie Gallion, a student of Mitchell School who is also the captain of the Mitchell football team, who was duly elected to receive a check from the West Monroe Lions Club in the amount of $250.00 to be used in purchasing equipment for the Mitchell football team. The check was presented to Ronnie, and Mrs. Cook expressed her appreciation for the interest the West Monroe Lions Club had taken in the school football team and she also thanked the club for the many pairs of eyeglasses that had been presented to the needy students of the school through the efforts of the West Monroe Lions Club sight conservation committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hill were also distinguished guests of the club, Mrs. Hill being a very active participant in the last Lions Club minstrel. Mrs. Hill entertained the club with a rendition of three songs. King Hunt of the Baton Rouge Lions Club was also a guest.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife's Last Fling

Woman's Flirtations Ascribed To "Age Of Indescretion"

DEAR MISS DIX: After twenty years of married life I am in love with my wife, while she has apparently lost all interest in me except as a provider. I am 43. She is 42. We have three lovely daughters, the oldest 17, the youngest 5.

My wife and I have lived together understandingly and in comparative happiness and contentment until about a year ago when a change in her attitude became apparent. Without any reason whatever she became cold and unresponsive to me and seemed to lose all interest in me. She never smoked nor drank until the last year. Now, while she doesn't do either at home, she smokes continuously when we are out with others and frequently drinks too much. She also has become very flirtatious and courts the attentions of men.

DOROTHY DIX

I am not jealous. I only wonder what change has come over her or over me to cause her to so completely change her conduct.

A BEWILDERED HUSBAND

ANSWER: There is nothing the matter with your wife but her age. The 40s are the age of indiscretion for women as well as men. It is then that men and women who have been sane and well poised heretofore suddenly seem to take leave of their senses and do mad things that they spend the balance of their lives repenting.

YOUTH'S LAST CALL

Of course, there is a pathological reason for this. It is the last flare-up of passion, the last call of youth, the last chance at romance, and to many men and women the temptation to have one final fling, one last draught of the heady wine of pleasure without counting the cost, that is irresistible.

It is this feeling that makes middle-aged men, who have been staid and sober citizens and exemplary husbands and fathers, forsake their devoted wives and marry girls young enough to be their daughters.

It is this that makes middle-aged women have their faces lifted and their hair dyed and buy themselves boy-husbands if they have money enough. Every community has its spicy tales of men and women who have made fools of themselves in their 40s by swapping off old wives and husbands for new, and who are paying the price in bitterness and tears and disillusion, and in being the laughing stock of all who know them.

Time is the only cure for her state. If you have the patience just to wait this phase will pass and she will be glad enough to come back to the old love that is tried and true and comfortable.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man of 28, engaged to a girl who works in the same department of a large business office that I do. She is secretary-stenographer to a man who is my department head. She is constantly browbeaten and driven by her boss, and she comes to me with her troubles and complains about him. I want to sympathize with her, but I do not want any personal feelings between the man and myself, for he is also my boss, and it makes the situation very difficult for me. I also asked my sweetheart not to wear her engagement ring at the office, and she is putting off our marriage because of this. I love her more than all the jobs on earth, so what shall I do?

ANXIOUS

ANSWER: Marry her and take her out of the office. She is evidently one of the women who are temperamentally unfit for business and whose proper sphere is a home where they can be monarch of all they survey and quarrel with the butcher and the baker without endangering their husbands futures.

As the matter stands it is just a question of time until she will lose you your job because your mutual boss will find out that she is running to you with her complaints about him and that you are taking her part, and he will discharge you. Even now she is hindering your chances of advancement, which must come to you through your immediate superior, by distracting your attention from your work and causing you to dislike him.

I trust your sweetheart will make you a good wife in the way of being affectionate and kind and a good cook. But she isn't going to be the kind of wife who will help you get on in the world. If she were broad-minded enough to see the picture as a whole, she would know that your success depends on your getting along with your boss, and she would not try to stir up enmity between you.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is having an affair with a girl in his office. Should I go to her and demand that she give him up?

JERSEY

ANSWER: Certainly not. Why humiliate yourself further? The girl knows all about you and she would only laugh at you and gloat over you. Any girl who runs around with a married man knows exactly what she is doing and cares nothing for his wife's feelings or rights.

CORSAGE MAKING WILL BE SHO'

Young High School Boy Will Instruct Women Of Monroe Garden Club

On Monday at 2:30 p.m. in the Cameo Room of the Virginia Hotel, the Monroe Garden Club will present Ronnie Merrill, who will give a demonstration and lecture on "Corsage Making."

Ronnie is a 14-year-old high school boy from Baton Rouge who practically stole the show during the Farm and Home Week at Louisiana State University this summer. He lectured and demonstrated the principles of corsage making for one hour each morning and it is said that his hall was filled to capacity and even overflowing at times.

This young man's youth is not the only drawing card. Even experienced corsage makers are intrigued by his originaliy of approach and the beauty of his work. Because of his age, Ronnie is only a junior member of the Baton Rouge Garden Club. However, he has taken and received credit for the six study courses offered by the National Council of Garden Clubs. When he comes of age he will automatically become an accredited judge for flower shows.

Some of the more experienced flower arrangers of Monroe have seen and heard Ronnie Merrill and they feel that he has a very bright future and consider the Monroe Garden Club members quite fortunate in having this opportunity of hearing him. For the beginner, his talk on principles and technique will be most valuable; and for the more experienced, his originality and fresh ideas will open new fields.

Mrs. Snelling, president, has asked that each member bring any prize specimen of blossoms that she might have in order to build up credit toward the contest being conducted among the members. She also suggested that these blossoms could be used by Ronnie to make corsages.

COW MOTHER OF TWINS

For a cow to be mother of twin calves is called quite unusual. Above is the heifer owned by Mr. and Mrs. Owen Cobb, 100 Newman street, Monroe which had two offspring at a time the past week. Dr. H. H. Baur, veterinarian, was called in connection with the case. The last twin calves born here according to Dr. Baur, was in July 1945, when a cow owned by W. Greer, Heard street, West Monroe, was mother of twins. The picture above shows Dr. Baur, Mrs. Cobb and her son Gene Cobb. The twins are called Mollie and Lollie. NOTEBOOK

Taejon, Korea.—(AP)—The three American soldiers in the ditch seemed to be playing a grim game of Indian hand wrestle.

The head and shoulders of one soldier were hunched forward as if he were using every ounce of power to bend back the arm of the second soldier, whose mouth was open in seeming protest. Their elbows rested on the back of the third soldier as though it were a table.

It was no game of childhood they played. All three were tied together. All were bloody. All were dead.

They were the first three bodies found in a dirt-covered ditch of death stretching 120 feet around two sides of the walled courtyard of the Taejon city jail.

The first to reach them were troops of the 24th division. Some were men whose own buddies had been captured when their division retreated from Taejon after a gallant stand in the early days of the war. They had wondered and worried for two months over what the Reds might have done to those buddies. Here was one answer.

They looked down at the tableau in the trench—at the two dead men who had died clenching each other's hands in a final claso of comradeship over the body of the third man. Some of the soldiers cursed, some blinked their eyes and walked away. One soldier went around the wall and was sick.

Across the alleyway in a small hut Major F. R. Jones of Clinton, N. Y., discovered a wounded American sergeant and a dying private who had just been rescued alive from the death pit in the jailyard.

They had lain in heroic silence for more than 51 hours—the only living link in the long chain of dead men hastily covered with dirt in the jailyard.

The pulse of life in the private had dwindled too far for him to talk. But Sergeant 1-C Carey H. Weiner of Hickman Mills, Mo., suffered only a hand wound and exposure, was in better shape.

He told Major Jones that Red captors, before pulling out of Taejon two days before, had tied together 42 American soldiers and 12 south Korean prisoners. They were then pushed to the hurriedly-dug mass grave and shot dead as they crouched against its sides for shelter. The north Koreans quickly shoveled dirt over them and left.

"I saved myself by playing dead," said the sergeant. "There was dirt around my face and I could breathe, but I was afraid to move for fear they were still there."

A dead man was tied to his left wrist. A dead man covered with heavy soil lay across his knees and pinioned them.

Through two chilly nights and two hot Indian summer days the sergeant lay motionless and cramped in the growing stench of death. He had no food, no water, and the pain in his untreated wound grew worse.

"Finally I decided I would rather be dead myself than stay there any longer," he said. "I heard a sound of someone going by—and I cried out for help.

It was a south Korean civilian. He pulled out Weiner. Then, noticing another body stirring in the dirt, he pulled out the weakened private.

Shortly after that the American army entered the city.

The long ordeal had proved too much for the young private, whose bullet wounds were more serious. He died that night surrounded by medics trying to save his life.

They are used to death but they took this one as a personal defeat. Two of the doctors had gone to the Taejon jailyard ditch when I revisited it the following day.

The dead men were being removed and fingerprinted as a double check on their identity under the supervision of Lt. Robert W. Shultice of Norfolk, Va. He was under army orders to investigate the atrocity and ducument the case.

The feet of one slain American soldier taken from the ditch were shoeless and bound in worn rags.

"The Reds kept about 30 American prisoners in this town all the time as an object lesson to the civilians," said Lieutenant Shultice. "Some had nothing to wear but tattered overalls and some were barefoot. They were forced to carry filth."

The guard at the courtyard entrance—21-year-old Corporal Billy Baugh of 2526 Carpenter St., Dallas, said angrily:

"I'd like to square it up for them."

But the job of evening the score, so far as it can be done, lies with a bigger and younger policeman—the United Nations.

Absinthe House In N. O. Features Old Museum

By David Taylor

New Orleans, La.—Along Bourbon St., in the heart of the French quarter where striptease dancers bump and grind nightly in most of the clubs, one night club was something different to offer tourists.

Instead of the usual dancing girls, jazz bands, and master of ceremonies routine, Owen Brennan, proprietor of the old Absinthe House, features a historical museumn.

A floor between floors in the ancient two-story building houses the museum with more than 850 items on display.

Built around 1806 by Font and Juncadella, two importers from Spain, the building was used as a combination business house and dwelling. Because it was impossible to build a basement below the ground level, the building was constructed with a floor between the first and second stories which was used as a supply room. It was here, according to legend, that Andrew Jackson met with Jean Lafitte, a daring privateer of the time, and mapped the defense of the city against the British in the war of 1812.

Story Behind the Room

Outnumbered by British forces that had already landed below the city, Gen. Jackson issued a call for all available men to defend the city. Jean Lafitte offered the services of his pirate band to Gov. William C. C. Claiborne who promptly turned down the offer because of Lafitte's reputation. Jackson, learning of the offer and realizing that the defense of the country was of the utmost importance, arranged for a meeting with Lafitte. Because the governor had placed a price on Lafitte's head he couldn't very well invite the bold privateer to the executive mansion for the meeting, therefore the group including the governor met in secret in the warehouse room.

The Absinthe House later became a coffee house and restaurant where Louisiana planters gathered to discuss their crops. But the warehouse floor remained the same.

In 1943 Brennan took over the old Absinthe House and the bar became a mecca for visitors. Brennan encouraged his patrons to sign their name on a card and pin it on the walls of the club. Thousands of cards, short snorters, photos and odd money from all over the world found their place on the ceiling and walls until the entire room was covered. The second floor was turned into apartments, but the floor between floors remained.

Museum Solved Problem

Brennan wondered what to do with this space. Then he hit upon the idea of the museum. Rounds of antique shops, visits with descendents of early settlers and many other calls provided Brennan with a bulk of the material. Off in one corner was a small room where the famous meeting is supposed to have taken place. Brennan sought the services of Grace Tolivar Granger, a New Orleans designer famous for her creation of dolls and figurines, and told her what he wanted. She created the paper mache figures.

Now in the dimly lighted room, the figures of Jean Lafitte, Andrew Jackson, and Dominque You, first lieutenant to Lafitte and former canoneer of Napoleon, are grouped around a table on which is a map of the city illuminated by a hurricane lamp. The figure of Gov. Claiborne is behind the group as if he were shying away from the pirate upon whose head the governor had set a price. Another pirate figure lifts the trap door entrance to the room to admit another member of the band climbing up the ladder. The figure of a Negro boy stands nearby ready to serve the group.

1950 Cotton Crop Smallest In Years, Figures Reveal

(By the Associated Press)

The south's 1950 cotton crop is one of the smallest in years—the smallest in one state in 75 years. Unfavorable weather, boll weevils, and the government's acreage control are blamed.

A survey brought these reports:

Mississppi—Agriculture Commissioner Si Corley estimates Mississippi will harvest three-fourths of the last government estimate of 1,420,000 bales. He said the Mississippi crop looks better than it did two weeks ago, he said the big worry now is the high moisture content of the cottonseed headed for next year's crop. Weather and weevils hit hard in some areas.

Alabama—federal-state estimates indicate 560,000 bales from 1,303,000 acres. A yield of 206 pounds would be the lowest since 1940. Cotton acreage this year is the lowest since 1869, and total production is the lowest since 1917. Last year's crop was 852,000 bales.

Georgia—production is indicated at 540,000 bales, which is 11 per cent less than last year. The 1939-49 average was 769,000 bales. A probable yield of 225 pounds per acre is 24 per cent above last year, but 7 per cent below the 10-year average. This year's acreage is 1,100,000, which is 28 per cent less than last year's. State extension service leaders place causes for the small crop this year in the smaller acreage under the government program; the heaviest infestation of boll weevils in history; and damage from boll worms and fungus blight.

South Carolina—USDA estimated 460,000 bales would be harvested off 863,000 acres, compared with 544,000 bales from 1,270,000 acres last year. The decrease is blamed on the acreage drop, with weevils and weather other major factors.

North Carolina—crop now estimated at 200,000 bales, with decrease blamed mainly on weather and weevils. This would be the smallest crop since 1875. State had 570,000 acres planted this year, compared with 869,000 last year. It 1872. The acreage this year was 178,000 short of the quota allotted the state.

Arkansas—last estimate placed crop at 1,100,000 bales. The ten year average is 1,393,000, and last year's crop was 1,632,000. Wet weather hampered cultivation. Rains also delayed opening, and picking. Some seeds sprouted in the bolls. Poisoning and weevil damage were heavy. Growers are seriously concerned over the supply of planting seed for 1951.

Texas—State Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald has no estimate but describes it as a "very poor, spotted crop." The U. S. department of agriculture crop reporting office in Austin said the September estimate of 2,775,000 bales for Texas is slightly above the 10-year average.

USDA spokesman said that extreme north Texas cotton has "suffered heavily from extreme moisture and insects, but other areas of big production were in "good condition." The total acreage for Texas is low, but the yield per acre was estimated last month at 913 pounds compared with a 10-year average of 170.

Louisiana—the crop reporting service now gives the indicated crop as 350,000 bales, 50,000 less than the August forecast, only a little more than half of last year's 650,000 total and about two-thirds of the 1938-48 10-year average of 536,000. The service reported the crop will be harvested from 749,000 acres, 29 per cent less than last year, and that the lint yield per harvested acre will be 224 pounds against 298 for last year. Commissioner of Agriculture W. E. Anderson attributed the decline to weevils, weather and acreage reduction.

Big Gorillas Moved Without Incident

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Two giant gorillas, supposed to be bad actors were moved today to their new home in the Bronx zoo.

Zoo officials were jittery about the move. It took seven hours to transfer the pair 1,300-feet—a rate of about three feet a minute.

The 430-pound male gorilla, Makoko, took one look at his new home and let out a mighty roar—pleasure, maybe, or perhaps anger, anger.

The crucial point came when it was Makoko's turn to lead his 306-pound mate into the steel transfer crates. But he hopped in as quick as a wink and without causing any trouble when Keeper James Reilly yelled at him:

"Boo."

A BOY, A DOG AND THE NEWS

Varying from the journalistic adage if a man bites a dog, it's news, Heinz, the faithful little pet of News-Star—World carrier salesman Bennie Gammill, makes today's edition beause he makes the rounds of daily delivery with his master. He belongs to no royal line of dogs as his name will indicate but perched upon his private seat of the scooter as he and Bennie take off to deliver the evening news, Heinz appears to be a thoroughbred in every respect.

DeWitt Mackenzie:

MACKENZIE'S COLUMN

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

There has been further fighting along the wild Pakistan-Afghanistan frontier—always a matter of anxiety to the major powers.

That is one of the danger spots of an already tense Asia.

Pakistan has announced that after six days of fighting she repulsed an invasion by a large force of Afghanistan regular troops and Pathan tribesmen. The Pathans live in what has long been treated as a sort of meutral zone between Pakistan and Afghanistan.

Afghanistan denies that her troops were involved, but says the invasion was by the tribesmen. The Pathans have been feuding for months with Pakistan over possession of the territory they occupy. Pakistan claims sovereignty, while the Pathans want to establish an independent state — Pathanland — with the backing of Afghanistan.

That's the basis of the scrap. If Afghanistan should participate in any attack on Pakistan, the situation might become exceedingly dangerous. Russia has a common frontier with northern Afghanistan and wields great influence over her small neighbor. Furthermore, Afghanistan provides a highway for invasion of Pakistan from the north.

Pakistan's vulnerable position is nothing new. During Britain's long rule of the Indian peninsula she kept close watch of that invasion highway, and especially of the famous Khyber pass which is the most important of the mountain passages. Powerful Landi Kotal fortress the Khyber looked down on Afghanistan territory.

So far as concerns the Pathan tribesmen, they are a savage and primitive people who eke out a precarious existence in the rocky terrain. They are tough, and the life of an outsider isn't worth much if he wanders unwittingly within range of their deadly rifles.

I spent considerable time in that region in 1916. The area around the city of Peshaway, near the Khyber, was frequently raided by the Pathans who engaged in kidnaping, murder and theft.

When the depredations were bad and the British could trace the culprits, the residents of the village from which the raiders came were warned to evacuate the place in preparation for its destruction. Then an airplane dropped a bomb. Force of this sort was the only thing they understood.

While I was on the northwest frontier I expressed a wish to make a trip to the Afghanistan capital of Kabul through the Khyber pass. That involved a long and arduous trip by horseback through the mountains, but it seemed worth while since Afghanistan was rather a mystery country in those days.

The British agreed to arrange the trip but advised strongly against the undertaking. They said it would be certain death to venture into that wild region among the tribesmen without a heavy guard. That would mean that the Emir (now called King) of Afghanistan would have to send a strong body of cavalry to the British frontier in the Khyber to escort me to Kabul. Of course I withdrew my request.

Anyway, that's how tough those tribesmen were—and are. Still, they could scarcely become the cause of a major war. Fighting between Afghanistan and Pakistan, however, would create a grave situation and the possibility of wide ramifications.

Therefore the hope must be that the border difficulty will be confined to the grievance of the tribesmen.

Man Gets Transfusion With His Own Blood

Talladega, Ala., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Aided by a transfusion of his own blood, a north Alabama man is recovering from a severe internal hemorrhage today.

James H. Costner, Munford, had donated a pint of blood three weeks ago for a seriously ill friend. The friend died before receiving the transfusion, and the blood was stored at the hospital.

Costner was taken to the same hospital yesterday suffering from a hemorrhage from ulcers. He was given a transfusion immediately.

A nurse glanced at the name of the donor on the blood container as he was receiving the transfusion. It was Costner's.

Four Year College Opens Doors For First Time

Monroe's college took another step forward this year when it opened its doors for the first time as a four year college.

It all began as Ouachita Parish Junior College in 1931—another step forward was taken and it became known as Northeast Center of L. S. U. in 1934—then in 1939 the next to last step came with it being proclaimed as Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. and the final step in 1950 brought Northeast Louisiana State College.

Ouachita Parish Junior College, the original name, first opened for business on September 28, 1931, in one well equipped building with Clyde C. Colvert, president and instructor in psychology; Miss Dorothy Wroten, registrar and secretary to the president; eleven faculty members; and 416 students.

All of this was made possible when a bill was adopted, act 173 of the 1928 legislature, making possible a junior college for this area.

The Ouchita parish school board on November 9, 1928, organized the Ouachita Parish Junior College District, and on the same date called for a special election in the new district for the purpose of voting a special tax of one mill for a period of ten years, to prevail for the construction, equipment, operation, and maintenance of a junior college. The election was held on December 12, 1928, and was carried by an overwhelming majority.

On July 10, 1934, a bill was introduced to the legislature to make the college a part of Louisiana State University. The bill, act number 231, stated that all buildings and equipment of the college would be turned over to the university. The bill was signed by the governor on July 14.

A National Championship Junior College football team for the seasons of 1935 and 1937 was produced by Head Coach James L. Malone. In addition to being National Junior College champions in 1937, the team was also the highest scoring team in the nation, of either junior or senior colleges, having piled up a total season's score of 303 points. Likewise, having had only six points scored against it in the 1935 season, it became the team to have the lowest number of scores against it of any junior or senior college team that season.

Again in May, 1939 the name of the college was changed to Northeast Junior College of Louisiana State University, this being occasioned by the fact that the word "Center" in the previous title had erroneously come to connote an institution offering graduate rather than undergraduate study.

The college paper, the Pow Wow, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, assistant professor of journalism and English, has received 18 All-American awards consecutively.

The ROTC unit was given an "excellent" rating in May, 1947, which is one of the highest ratings received by any junior or senior college in the nation for that period.

A four-year college became a reality to the citizens of northeast Louisiana when on July 3, 1950, the state legislature passed a bill making the junior college a four year school. The institution was named some time later, Northeast Louisiana State College, and Lewis C. Slater was appointed president by the state board of education.

Election Called On School Bonds

Jonesville, La., Oct.—An election on a $105,000 bond issue in school district five, comprises of ward five, has been called by the Catahoula parish school board for November 7, date of the state general election.

At the present time, the school district is without indebtedness. Plans for the improvement program for Harrisonburg school were made at a public meeting last week, when 50 citizens attended.

A vote of the citizens showed that most wanted an auditorium built first, then a lunchroom and a meat curing plant. Other improvements mentioned for the bond issue were band uniforms and instruments, covered sidewalks, lights on the athletic field and repairs to the rest rooms.

After the bond issue is voted and buildings costs ascertained, definite plans will be made to include as many improvements as possible, according to Aubrey Brooks, superintendent of schools.

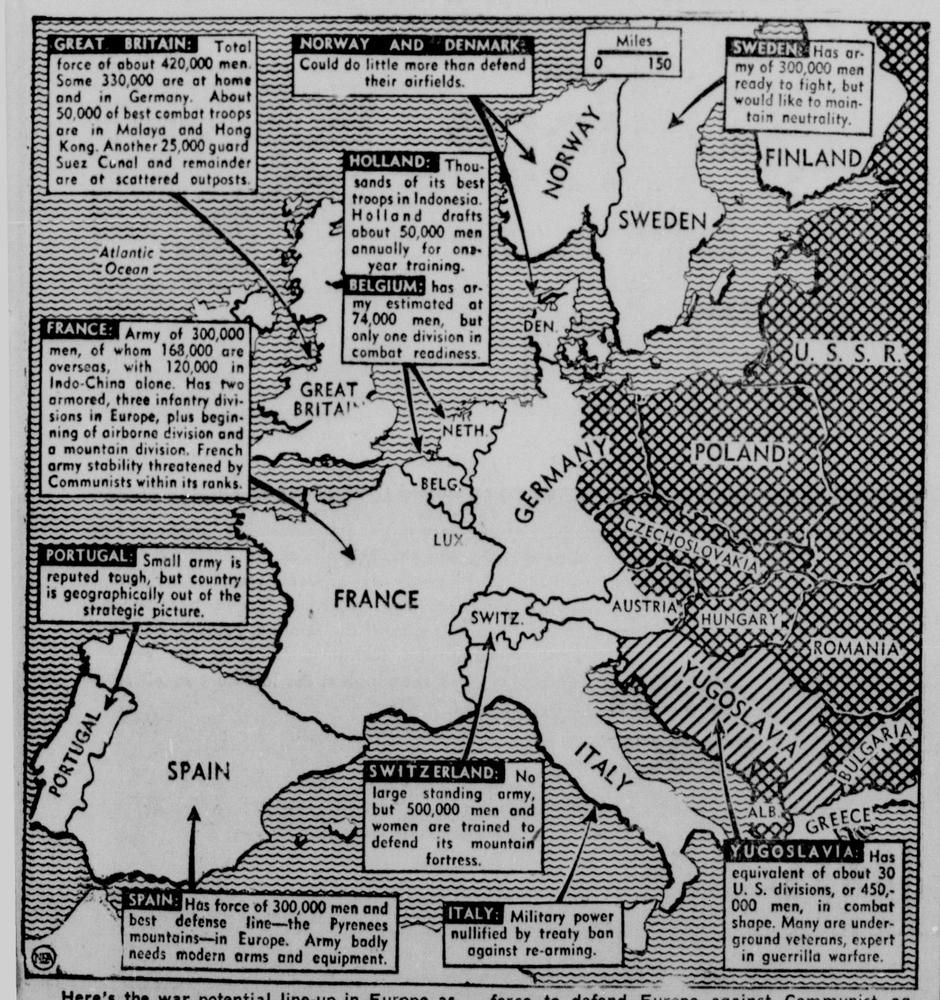
Men's Fellowship Supper Scheduled

In cooperation with the laymens day program of the Southern Baptist Convention on Sunday, October 8, the two mens brotherhood units of the College Place Baptist Church are promoting another mens fellowship supper on Monday evening, October 9th, at 7:15 p.m., according to Mr. C. C. Lindley, newly elected brotherhood president. Rev. Tommy Welch, pastor of the Sterlington Baptist Church, will be the inspirational speaker for the meeting.

At this time a new membership drive will be launched by the membership vice-president, C. R. Peterson and J. Y. Brooks. An interesting and challenging program will be offered and special musical numbers have been arranged. The good meal prepared by the food committee will add to the anticipated period of fellowship. All interested men of the community are urged to attend.

FREE NATIONS VS. REDS—LINE-UP IN EUROPE



Here's the war potential line-up in Europe as the 12-nation Atlantic Pact Council agreed at its New York session to establish, as quickly as possible, an integrated, international military force to defend Europe against Communist aggression. Maps show relative manpower and war resources of the free and Red-dominated nations.
